

PENTAGON ASSESSES RAID

Reds Not Immune From Air Attack

... IN MONSOON SEASON

Washington (AP) — The jungle raid by Strategic Air Command B52s "has demonstrated that the Viet Cong has no sanctuary from effective air attack during the monsoon season" and risks heavy penalties in concentrating large forces, Pentagon sources said Friday.

The sources said the objective of the attack north of Saigon by 26 bombers from Guam was to break up a Communist concentration threatening to launch attacks in the Saigon area. And "that objective was accomplished, the sources said.

Battalions Dispersed
An assessment of the effects of the raid made available to a reporter said that as many as four Viet Cong battalions were dispersed by the rain of high explosives.

Intelligence reports had indicated that a new concentration in the Ben Cat area included one known Viet Cong battalion, two probable battalions and one possible battalion," the sources said.

Defense officials told a reporter earlier that one of the big gains in the raid was to open a previously impregnable Communist stronghold to the troops of the Vietnamese government who moved into the area quickly in several teams after the bombing.

Few Red Dead
The loss of life inflicted on the Communists apparently was slight.

The sources said three Viet Cong were killed, three wounded and 16 suspects were captured.

"Further examination of the area for more detailed damage assessment is continuing," the sources added.

"It is likely that numerous Viet Cong casualties were caused in areas of difficult terrain which time and circumstances did not permit searching."

Headquarters Destroyed
The sources said that a major Viet Cong headquarters was "overrun and destroyed."

A large communications center was ruined, the sources said, and 20 to 30 buildings used for barracks, training, storage and feeding were destroyed.

The sources made it plain that a major objective of the attack was to counter a new Viet Cong tactic.

Increasingly of late, the sources said, the Communists have launched surprise attacks on towns and have mounted big-scale ambushes on South Vietnamese troops.

Soldiers Tied Down
Substantial numbers of South Vietnamese soldiers have been tied down by the threat of attack from this concentration of up to four battalions.

Because of the heavy jungle, the sources said, it was virtually impossible before this raid for government troops to penetrate the area about 25 miles north of Saigon.

The sources said the reasons B52s were used was that they could saturate the area with a heavy carpet of bombs in a short period of time.

The B52s carried as much as 38,000 pounds of bombs in 750-pound and 1,000-pound versions.

Only Way
The heavy jungle cover prevented pinpointing specific targets beneath it, the sources said, and thus the only way the area could be clobbered was with a carpet of bombs wreaking widespread destruction.

The sources also stressed what they called the psychological effects of the bombing which it is hoped will show the Viet Cong they will have to keep on the move without any assurance they can be safe anywhere.

Nebraskans Tops In Young GOP

Miami Beach, Florida (AP) — Nebraska scored heavily in awards made at the national Young GOP convention here Friday.

The Lancaster County organization was declared the outstanding such group in "large category" and the Kearney State College organization the outstanding group in the mid-sized college competition.

John Kamp of Lincoln won the award as the outstanding young GOP teen age boy and Nancy Schneiderwind of Omaha was runnerup in the Miss National Young GOP contest.

Postcard Poll Lists Peterson As GOP Choice For Governor

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Former Gov. Val Peterson of Hastings is leading in returns from more than a thousand participants in the Republican Party's gubernatorial poll, The Star learned Friday.

Peterson is followed, in order, by former U.S. Secretary of the Interior Fred Seaton of Hastings, State Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings, and former GOP State Chairman Charles Thone of Lincoln.

Only the identity of the top four leaders was learned.

While Peterson heads the list, his vote total does not even approach a majority of the returns, it was understood.

Conducted By Postcard
The GOP's statewide postcard poll contains the names of 11 possible gubernatorial candidates and a space for write-in preferences.

Participants in the survey were asked to determine "the strongest possible" candidates for governor and lieutenant governor in 1966.

Other names listed on the cards were former Congressman Ralph Beermann of Dakota City, State Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, former State Chairman Robert Denney of Fairbury, State Sen. Chet Paxton of Theftord, Lincoln Mayor Dean Peterson, former State Chairman Richard E. Spelts Jr. of Grand Island, and Wausa banker N. T. Niemann.

The poll is a continuing survey authorized by the party's state central committee and launched at the direction of State Chairman Walter Witt-hoff of Fremont.

Peterson, former three-term governor and former U.S. ambassador to Denmark, is currently president of the University of Nebraska Board of Regents.

Seaton was the GOP's gubernatorial nominee in 1962.

Thone was the party's nominee for lieutenant governor in 1964.

Marvel, chairman of the Legislature's Budget Committee and a six-term state legislator, has never entered a statewide contest.

The poll was widely discussed on the floor of the Unicameral Friday during debate on LB164, the open presidential primary proposal which would return the selection of all national convention delegates to a vote of the people.

Marvel, Carpenter and Paxton all denied any prior knowledge that their names would be included in the survey.

GOP leadership in the state came, in for heavy criticism during the discussion. See story on Page 5.

Tornado, Hail, Water Hit Western Nebraska

Considerable weather disturbances in the western part of Nebraska brought a tornado, golf-ball sized hail and some local flooding, as well as closed highways to Denver.

The Scottsbluff weather bureau personnel said they spotted a tornado on radar around 7 p.m. Friday. A Safety Patrol report at 8:15 p.m. indicated that the tornado struck two farms owned by Bill Connor of Lisco.

Both farms are located three miles west of Lisco. One farm was occupied by Earl Chapin and the other by Carol Cienny. There was considerable damage to outbuildings, and cars were damaged.

The funnel was accompanied by heavy rains and some hail.

The Scottsbluff weather bureau also said that there was considerable "golf-ball sized hail" south of Gering and north of Scottsbluff. The extent of damage was not known, but some local flooding had been reported.

U.S. Highway 26 between Lisco and Broadwater had been partially under water, late Friday and a number of bridges had been damaged.

The Scottsbluff Safety Patrol office said that bridges would be watched to determine the extent of damage and safety. Traffic had been temporarily halted, but had been restored late Friday evening.

According to Don Schrader of the North Platte Highway Patrol, flood waters in the Denver area have closed "all main roads east of Colorado."

"To get to Denver from the east, you have to go to Cheyenne, Wyo., and then south," Schrader said.

A report from the Kansas highway patrol earlier noted that all highways into Colorado from Kansas were closed because of high water.

A wall of water is moving down the South Platte river from the Colorado Rockies. It is not expected to crest in North Platte until early next week.

According to Schrader, flooding is not expected in that area as "the Platte is pretty wide and can handle a great deal of water."

Blair, Omaha 'Misses' Win

York (AP) — Asheri Susan Rooney, Miss Blair, and Gail Victoria Rowden, Miss Omaha, were second round winners in the Miss Nebraska contest Friday night.

Miss Rooney, a dancer, won the talent contest and Miss Rowden won the swim suit contest.

A third preliminary round will be held Saturday night and Miss Nebraska will be chosen Sunday.

Miss Rooney was in the contest last year as Miss Omaha. Classmates at Omaha Westside School, from which they graduated in 1964, the two girls are almost twins. They are both 19 and five feet three inches tall, and both have brown hair and blue eyes. Both did jazz dances for their talent displays.

Thistles On 27th Cause Worry

The City Engineering Department said Friday it is investigating complaints received about a stand of thistles along the west side of 27th Street north of Calvert.

The thistles, in an area bordering the east line of the Lincoln Country Club, are a menace to greens and fairways there as well as to residential lawns on the east side of 27th, according to Joe Hadwig, club greenskeeper.

City Engineer Dick Erixson said the thistles were newly soded by the city following installation of a water line there last year, and if the thistles are the fault of the city, he said, the city would correct the situation.

—DEFIANCE— Red Copter Flies Over West Berlin

Berlin (AP) — An armed East German helicopter flew over West Berlin Friday in defiance of the Western allies. Authoritative sources said the U.S. Army placed machine guns on its helicopters as a countermove.

A U.S. Army spokesman said he could neither confirm nor deny that machine guns were mounted on the American helicopters.

The East German "Hound" helicopter, bearing the same number as one spotted throughout the week, was armed with a 12.7mm machine gun. It flew over the U.S. Army quartermaster compound and near the sprawling McNair Barracks. The latter house the U.S. Army combat infantry brigade.

Approximately 1,000 Feet
The helicopter, flying at approximately 1,000 feet, changed course and whirled back into East Germany after a U.S. Army helicopter was rushed to the scene.

The intrusion was the most serious challenge of Western rights on air space over Berlin since the East Germans began the flights last week. Until now the East Germans had restricted them to flying along the Red-built wall and the borders around the city.

The two Army installations are located about 500 yards from the border on the southern outskirts of the American sector.

Another East German helicopter, of the smaller "hare" type, also flew over Berlin, but it was not known whether this one was also armed.

Viewed As Violation
U.S. officials said they viewed the flights, even when they do not take place over West Berlin, as extremely serious violations of post-war four-power agreements.

These agreements clearly state that only planes of the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union have a right to fly within the Berlin control zone, which extends 20 miles in radius from the city's center.

The East German official news agency, ADN, said Thursday night the East German government would continue the flights since its helicopters have a right to fly anywhere over Berlin.

The flights and other incidents in Berlin over the last months appear to back up the contention of some Western diplomats in Berlin that the Soviets are trying to create trouble in Berlin to make up for their inaction in Viet Nam in the eyes of the East bloc.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk himself told West German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder two weeks ago that a tougher Soviet line could be expected in Berlin.

Recharged Water Well 'Tests Out Beautifully'

The first water well in Lincoln designed for artificially recharging underground water supplies has "tested out beautifully," says Lee Blocker, city public utilities director. The water department project is still in the experimental stage and has been initiated to avoid building new pipelines and reservoirs in the Ashland area to service summer peak water demands.

Blocker said that once the wells are established, water will be piped into the natural underground reservoirs from Ashland during "the off season" and stored until needed during the summer.

He said that if the project is successful, several more sites will be tested.

The site pictured, in Antelope Park near Normal Blvd., shows a well drilling rig and test pump pumping out water from the underground supply at the rate of 1,000 gallons per minute.

Love: Colorado Flood Damage At $102 Million

Denver (AP) — Colorado suffered at least $102 million property damage in four days of floods which took six lives—possibly more, Gov. John A. Love estimated Friday night.

The governor used the figure in appealing to President Johnson for $31 million in federal funds. He asked that 27 of the state's 63 counties be declared disaster areas.

Love said $42 million of the damage was to public property and $10 million to highways.

Toward Nebraska

The appeal came as cloud-burst-born floodwaters swept the lower Arkansas River valley in southeast Colorado and the rich South Platte River valley 200 miles to the north. The floods moved toward Kansas and Nebraska.

Major danger spots were reported at Brush and Sterling in the northeast and La Junta, Las Animas, Lamar and Holy in the southeast.

The Cache La Poudre River, a tributary of the South Platte, spilled over its banks a little in the north and east parts of Greeley, and about 250 people were removed from their homes.

Near Greeley, at Evans, the South Platte backed up more than a mile over the 9th Street bridge, but few people live in the flooded area.

New Wave
Meanwhile a new wave of water, estimated at 40,000 to 50,000 second feet by Richard T. Eckles, state natural resources coordinator, raced across Pueblo to the Fountain River and dumped into the Arkansas river there.

Rusk Says Reds Keep Snubbing Peace Tries

Washington (AP) — The United States has explored many paths to peace in Viet Nam but has met with constant Communist rebuffs and indications of a desire to drive ahead militarily, Secretary of State Dean Rusk told the cabinet Friday.

"I'm not suggesting that all these channels are closed . . .," he said.

But he noted it appears the Reds want to continue their military strikes under cover of the current monsoon rains which give them some protection from U.S. bombing.

"No Evidence"

And he added "we have no evidence" the Communists will be interested in a non-military solution even after the rains stop in September and October.

However, he cautioned that if they do have such discussions in mind they probably would not tip their hand in advance.

Rusk presented his report during a cabinet session with President Johnson lasting a little more than an hour, and then discussed it with newsmen.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara also reported to the cabinet, but Rusk did the talking afterward.

B52 Raid 'Worthwhile'

Rusk, asked about use of B52 Strategic Air Command bombers in a strike at a reported Communist concentration in South Viet Nam, said, "I would think it was worthwhile myself."

Rusk said he reviewed the many efforts the United States has made during the last 4½ years to obtain a peaceful settlement in Southeast Asia, starting with the 1961 meeting between the late President John F. Kennedy and former Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev in Vienna.

He mentioned among others the 1962 Geneva conference on Laos, the proposal of 17 nonaligned nations for unconditional discussions on Viet Nam—a plan accepted by the United States — and other U.S.-accepted peace efforts suggested by India, plus a suggested meeting to insure the neutrality of Cambodia.

Channels Open

Diplomatic and informal channels remain open for the Communists to use if they seriously desire a settlement, Rusk said.

"Who wants peace and who wants to absorb their neighbors?" he asked.

"This is the central question, and there is no question about where the United States stands."

Wilson's Peace Try In Trouble

London (UPI)—Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Commonwealth peace mission for Viet Nam Friday ran into serious trouble. Moscow was cool to the mission, and one of its five members withdrew.

But Wilson, with the aid of Canadian Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson, was reported winning his battle for acceptance of the mission by the 21 Commonwealth premiers in conference here.

Wilson will have the weekend to continue his private talks when the heads of government adjourn to Chequers, his official residence outside London, or nearby Dorneywood Estate. He hopes to have complete acceptance by Monday.

Ceylon's Prime Minister Dudley Senanayake withdrew from the mission Friday, citing the press of business in forming his new government.

The other members are Wilson, President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana, Prime Minister Sir Abubakar Balewa of Nigeria and Eric Williams of Trinidad and Tobago.

The mission hopes to be invited to Moscow, Washington, Saigon, Peking and Hanoi to discuss a peace conference to end the Vietnamese conflict.

Friday, the Russian government newspaper Izvestia called the plan "a maneuver . . . intended to show the critics of British policy that London is concerned about peace."

Triple-Barrel Titan Scores Big Success

Cape Kennedy, Fla. (AP)—A mighty Titan 3C, the most powerful rocket ever fired, scored a thundering success on its maiden test flight Friday and signaled the Air Force to proceed with plans to establish a military beach-head in space.

In the most spectacular launching ever witnessed at this missile wonderland, the huge triple-barrel rocket developed total thrust of more than three million pounds, spewed a tail of flame more than 600 feet long and flung into orbit a 21,000-pound dummy satellite — the heaviest payload ever launched.

This orbiting chunk of lead is the forerunner of manned and unmanned military machines which will patrol and perhaps dominate space, preventing other nations from using it for warlike purposes.

Maj. Gen. Ben I. Funk, commander of the Air Force Space Systems Division, said the flight represented "a great day for the nation, the Defense Department and the Air Force."

'Catalyst'

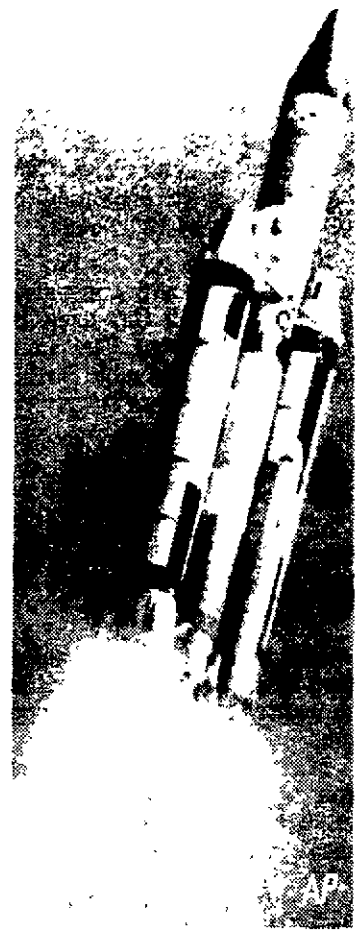

"The success with a combination of solid and liquid fuel rockets," he said, "demonstrates the flexibility of the booster for military as well as other payloads. I feel it will be the catalyst which will kick off many programs which the Air Force has been working on and you have been reading about. The manned orbiting laboratory should get the green light in short order."

Within a few days, the Defense Department is expected to give the Air Force the go-ahead to develop the manned laboratory, which has been under study for several months.

The lab, which will be the size of a house trailer, will keep two or more astronauts in orbit for a month or more to determine what military missions man can effectively perform in space. Officials hope to launch the first vehicle by 1968.

To Set Up Space Systems

Within three years, Titan

TITAN 3C . . . launched.

3C rockets are expected to establish these unmanned space systems: a network of 24 communications satellites for swiftly relaying military messages around the world; reconnaissance, navigation and satellite intercept payloads.

The Titan 3C actually is three rockets strapped together. Two solid-fuel motors ignited on liftoff and generated 2.65 million pounds of thrust to propel the vehicle to an altitude of 24 miles. Then the 127-foot liquid-fuel central chamber fired with a 474,000-pound-thrust burst.

Second and third stages of the center segment ignited with precision and hurled the lead satellite into orbit 115 miles high.

The launching recorded several space firsts: most booster thrust, most powerful rocket engine ignited in space, heaviest rocket (710 tons) and heaviest true payload weight (21,000 pounds).

Report Charges Kerr's Laxness Let Reds Take Over UC Uprisings

Sacramento, Calif. (AP)—A legislative committee charged Friday that laxness of University of California President Clark Kerr "let a minority of Communist leaders" take over recent student uprisings on the Berkeley campus.

In San Francisco, Kerr told a news conference that no Communists were employed at the university. Earlier he said the committee report was loaded with inaccuracies.

In its 13th biennial report, the state senate fact-finding committee on un-American activities said that what started out as a legitimate student protest turned into a Communist-inspired bid to wreck the university.

To Its Knees

Kerr's "tolerance of radical student groups," the committee said, "let a minority of Communist leaders . . . bring this great education institution to its knees."

Senate President Pro Tem Hugh M. Burns, D-Fresno, committee chairman, submitted the lengthy document at noon.

It included sharp criticism of John Birch Society President Robert Welch and reported a "dangerous increase of anti-Semitism" within the society's membership.

Former Rep. John Rousset, Nationalist spokesman for the John Birch Society, said in San Marino, Calif.: "We have been concerned about the problem of anti-Semitic infiltrators agitating our membership for quite some time . . . We have dealt very decisively with the problem."

Refusal Protested

The Berkeley campus uprising began in early fall when students began protesting the university's refusal to allow collection of funds on campus for off campus political and civil rights activities. A student group formed to fight the decision and named itself the Free Speech Movement.

The conflict built in intensity until Dec. 2, when approximately 800 persons, mostly students, invaded the main administration building and refused to leave. Hundreds of policemen under orders from Gov. Edmund G. Brown swarmed into the building and arrested the rebels.

The committee said it was not implying Kerr had Communist sympathies. It pictured him as the man responsible for easing security regulations thus allowing ex-Communists to get university jobs.

Tracing Kerr's background as an aide in several federal agencies and as a labor mediator, the committee said: "We make no accusation that there was any guilt by association, but we do make that many of Kerr's intimate colleagues during these years . . . were participating in a wide variety of pro-Communist activities.

"Some of them came to work at the Berkeley campus after Kerr became its chancellor" in 1952.

The committee said of the FSM:

"We came to the inevitable conclusion that while the FSM was started by many students who certainly were not Communist dupes or members of any subversive organizations . . . there were experienced and disciplined members of the Communist movement deep in the heart of the FSM from its very inception."

The committee said that by the Dec. 2 sit-in the FSM was taken over by an activist leadership that "was far superior to the organization of the Berkeley administration, that was floundering in a bureaucratic tangle."

The report termed Mario Savio, whose fiery oratory gained him nationwide publicity as the movement's spokesman, a relatively minor figure.

It said he was under the "powerful influence" of fellow student Bettina Aptheker, described as having a background "that was virtually nothing else but Communist."

Van Sickle Heads Young GOP

Kansas State Sen. Tom R. Van Sickle, 27, of Fort Scott, is shown with his wife, Suzanne, at the Young Republicans' meeting in Miami Beach, Fla., Friday. Van Sickle, a conservative identified with the Barry Goldwater camp, was elected national chairman of the organization. In the boisterous session, Van Sickle won 308-238 over David Flaherty of Lenoire, N.C. Among the 21 state delegations voting for Van Sickle was Nebraska's.

OAS Pleads For Dominican Peace, Supervised Election

Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic (AP) — The Organization of American States (OAS) asked the warring Dominican factions Friday to end their fighting and agree to OAS-supervised elections within six to nine months. Meanwhile, a provisional government would be set up.

An opportunity would be provided, the OAS said, "for all leaders of democratic political parties abroad to return to the Dominican Republic under OAS safeguards in order that they might participate in the political life of the nation, including the election."

An OAS conference in Washington dealing with the 8-week-old civil war announced the plan and made an urgent appeal to the Dominican people to accept it as a settlement of their governmental crisis.

In Santo Domingo, an OAS peace committee presented the plan to the leaders of the rival factions. Both the rebels and the civilian-military junta agreed to study the proposal.

In another development, Col. Hector La Chapelle of the rebel military command announced that three more American soldiers had been captured and were under interrogation. He would not reveal their names or the conditions under which they were captured.

Pic. Larry Leed of Conestoga, Pa., and Spec. 4 Donald Jones of Pomona, Calif., were taken prisoner Thursday when they drove a jeep and trailer into the rebel sector.

De Gaulle Talk Main Reason For Humphrey's Paris Visit

Paris (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey said Friday a main reason for his quick trip to France with America's newest spacemen is to pay his respects to President Charles de Gaulle, "a great leader."

Humphrey made the statement at a news conference at the international air and space show shortly after arriving at Le Bourget Airfield with Maj. James McDivitt and Maj. Edward White, the Gemini space twins who recently completed a four-day orbital flight.

Humphrey will meet De Gaulle Sunday afternoon. The space men said they felt they could have gone on indefinitely on their flight and would like to go together to the moon.

"We are very honored to have a chance to visit Gen. de Gaulle," Humphrey said. "I will personally bring the greetings of President Johnson to the general when I see him. One of the main reasons for our visit was to come here to pay respects to a great nation, a great people, and a great leader."

Stockholders in two Lincoln investment firms filed suits in Lancaster District Court Friday for recovery of money they paid for stock, which allegedly was solicited illegally.

Defendant firms are Midwestern Investment Co. and Mid-Nebraska Investment Co., formerly the Lincoln Casualty Co.

Recovery of a total of $32,700 is asked in the three suits filed by Ray Peake, Arlie J. Suhl and Mary J. Suhl, and

SAC Officials Pleased With B52 Accuracy

Omaha (AP)—The accuracy of B52 bombers in their massive air strike in South Viet Nam was "excellent," a Strategic Air Command spokesman said Friday.

The SAC bombers dumped 1,377 high explosive bombs on the assigned target area, a patch of jungle area covering about three square miles.

"Of that number, only 1 1/2 strings—a B52 string carries 51 bombs—landed outside the target area," he said. "The 1 1/2 strings hit an unpopulated forest area. The bombs farthest removed from the target area were 3,000 feet away. Some of the other bombs in the 1 1/2 strings walked into the target area."

In this type of attack bombs are dropped in a linear pattern. When a string is described as having "walked" into a target it means that the pattern of explosions actually led into and penetrated the target.

In short, said the spokesman, the B52's hit their target as planned.

The command battle staff, which assembled in the underground command post at SAC headquarters here Thursday, controlled the movement of the B52's which rained tons of bombs, napalm and rockets into the Viet Cong jungle.

The operation was directed from the headquarters of SAC, with Lt. Gen. Joseph J. Nazare, SAC vice commander-in-chief, the ranking officer.

SAC said Gen. John D. Ryan, SAC chief, in Europe on Air Force business, remained in radio contact with the command post.

Pope May Face Questioning On Illinois Holdup

Hamel, Ill. (AP)—Sheriff Barney Fraundorf said Friday he would ask the Federal Bureau of Investigation to question Duane Pope about a bank holdup here and the murder of two brothers.

Pope, 22, in a Kansas City, Mo., jail, is charged with robbing a Big Springs, Neb., bank and killing three bank employees and wounding a fourth.

The Hamel bank was robbed last Oct. 9. The bodies of Frank Litton, 26, and his brother, Denver, 22, both of Worden, Ill., were found shortly after the robbery.

Summary Of Conditions

Little change in the weather map features can be expected through noon Saturday with a large high pressure area centered over the central portion of Illinois and a stationary front from north-west North Dakota to the northwest corner of Nebraska and into southwest New Mexico. There is another Pacific front presently located from north central Montana to Nevada central Idaho and west central Nevada which will be located where the stationary front is by noon. With the new Pacific front overruling the stationary front, the combination of the two will start the system to move especially over the northern section.

Forrest Fisher, against Midwestern Investment.

The plaintiffs allege that in Feb., 1962, they were solicited by the company for the purchase of shares of capital stock; and that the company represented that the stock had book value of as much as $10 per share, when actually directors, officers and other persons had purchased more than 50,000 shares at $1 per share.

Say Not Approved

The plaintiffs allege that the defendant firm represented to them that the Bureau of Securities of the State Department of Banking had approved the stock issue and shares, which the plaintiffs had been solicited to purchase, when actually the State Department of Banking had not approved, authorized, licensed or registered the stock for general public sale and solicitation.

The petition states that the State Banking Department Bureau of Securities had required the defendants and the firm had agreed that the stock of the corporation might be offered to its original holders at the rate of $3.50 per share.

The plaintiffs allege that more than 50,000 shares were sold at $1 per share; 10,000 at $3.50; 1,200 at $5; 5,000 at $6 and less than 2,000 at $10.

Accelerator Bid Chances Good—Callan

Washington (AP)—Rep. Clair Callan said Friday that he believes Nebraska's bid for the proposed new $250 million proton accelerator facility has "a good chance of surviving the first round of screening."

The Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) has received 86 different proposals involving 100 sites in 42 states, Callan said.

The list will probably be reduced to between 12 and 20 proposals by the end of July, he noted.

"Based on AEC criteria, we have a reasonable chance of qualifying," Callan said.

Among criteria listed are available land, abundant water and good access to highways and housing, the First District congressman said.

Two Nebraska applications were submitted for the federal facility, one proposing a portion of the Old Mead Ordnance Plant and the other proposing the old Sioux Ordnance Depot site near Sidney.

Actor Franciscus Is Fined $15 For Disturbing Peace

San Juan, Puerto Rico (AP)—Actor James Franciscus, television's well-mannered high school teacher, "Mr. Novak," was fined $15 Friday for disturbing the peace. Fines in the same amount were assessed against his brother John and their wives.

All four pleaded guilty in San Juan District Court to singing loudly after midnight on May 21. They still face charges of malicious damage for allegedly deflating the tires of cars belonging to a neighbor of John's. The case was continued for hearing Monday.

When Franciscus and his wife discovered they had only $20 between them, Judge Alma Delgado relented and accepted that amount for the fines. Franciscus' brother came with just enough to pay the $30 for himself and his wife.

When the malicious damage charges were filed last month, John Franciscus said it was his idea to empty the tires because his neighbor Victor Sindoni insisted on taking a parking spot Franciscus wanted to keep free for his wife Monica, who is expecting a child.

He said James, who had come to Puerto Rico for a television special called "Caribbean Holiday," had nothing to do with emptying the tires.

shares purchased at $10 per share; the Suhl's are seeking $8,250 for 500 shares at $6, 1-1/2 Feb., 1962, they were solicited by the company for the purchase of shares of capital stock; and that the company represented that the stock had book value of as much as $10 per share, when actually directors, officers and other persons had purchased more than 50,000 shares at $1 per share.

A total of $10,500 is sought in the five suits filed by Arlie J. Suhl, Kathryn M. Sievers and Arlie J. Suhl, Forrest Fisher and Louise E. Fisher, Gerald R. Divoky, and Donald F. Divoky and Betty Ann Divoky, against Mid-Nebraska Investment Corp.

The petitions allege that the stock certificates were "tainted with irregularities in that the defendants knowingly, willingly, and willfully, solicited plaintiffs to purchase stock when the same had not been approved by the Bureau of Securities of the State Banking Department."

The plaintiffs allege that after purchasing the stock in January, 1962, the officers voted in July, 1962, that the stockholders could surrender shares and the directors would refund at the rate of $5 per share.

Payment Said Refused

The plaintiffs contend they offered to surrender their shares of stock and made demands for the compensation, but the defendants refused to make payment.

Suhls seeking $1,000 for 200 shares; Kathryn Sievers and Suhl are seeking $1,000 for 200 shares; the Fisher's are seeking $2,500 for 500 shares; G. Divoky, $1,000 for 200 shares, and the Donald Divoky's are seeking $5,000 for 1,000 shares.

Officers named as defendants in the Midwestern suits are: B.B. Wright, Lester E. Jones, M. L. Simmons, Emra L. Butler, Noral T. Brown and Josephine Brown.

Defendant officers named in the Mid-Nebraska suits are: B.B. Wright, Thomas C. Prehn, G.E. Deitemeyer, B.E. Burch, Robert M. Barkley and Lois Prehn.

Dorothy Collins Gets Her Divorce From Composer

Santa Monica, Calif. (AP)—Singer Dorothy Collins won a divorce Friday from composer-conductor Raymond Scott with testimony that he was so critical he gave her asthma.

Miss Collins and Scott were married 12 years ago when she was the singing star and he the bandleader on the "Hit Parade" program on television.

She testified in Superior Court that Scott was a "martinet" who criticized her performances, her diction, her wardrobe and even her party manners.

Congratulations came from all quarters to Ed Lonsdale and Roger Elder for their work in getting the pageant off to a smooth start Thursday.

Even the 36 contestants were so well prepared that rehearsals haven't required the amount of time allotted.

Producer Dick Wood said he was nervous because "everything's running so smoothly."

Omahan Drowns During Florida Vacation Trip

Fort Pierce, Fla. (UPI)—Frankie Lee Hohenhouse, 28, of Omaha, drowned Thursday while diving on the wreck of a sunken Spanish ship near here.

Hohenhouse was vacationing near here where he formerly lived.

The accident occurred when Hohenhouse was trying out new scuba diving equipment in shallow water.

He is survived by his wife, a daughter, his parents and a sister, all of Omaha.

Services will be held Saturday at the Yates funeral home here.

Marker To Commemorate Ordeal Of Boys Pinned Together By Arrow While On Pony

Lincoln Star Special

Grand Island—A historical County Historical Society, will be master of ceremonies.

The surprise attack by the Sioux came near the end of an early fall day when the Martin boys and their father, George Martin, were hauling hay from a field northeast of the Martin homestead in the Platte Valley.

Both boys, Nat Martin, 14, and his brother, Robert, 11, at the time of the attack, survived their wounds. Robert Martin died in Ellsworth, Kan., in 1899 and Nat Martin died in Hastings in 1928.

The marker, a statue of two boys astride a pony at full gallop, with an arrow through the body of one and imbedded into the body of the boy in front, will be unveiled by Mrs. Alva Johnston of Grand Island, a daughter of Nat Martin.

The ceremony and program will be held on the Howard Weaver farm seven miles southwest of Doniphan and three miles south of the Alda state Highway 80 at 2 30 p.m. Sunday.

Senator Carl T. Curtis will deliver the address. Emil

Roeser, president of the Hall County Historical Society, will be master of ceremonies.

The surprise attack by the Sioux came near the end of an early fall day when the Martin boys and their father, George Martin, were hauling hay from a field northeast of the Martin homestead in the Platte Valley.

As the Sioux swooped into the valley from hills to the south, Mr. Martin lashed his team and by use of his Spencer repeating rifle managed to hold off the Indians, although wounded by an arrow in his neck, until he reached the safety of his "soddy."

Temporarily Hidden

The boys, some distance behind their father, were on a load of hay drawn by a yoke of oxen led by one horse. They cut the oxen loose, leaped on the horse with Rosswest of Doniphan and, headed for three miles south of the Alda, a small knoll which provided cover and which temporarily hid them from the Indians.

Failed in their attempt to deliver the address. Emil

Sioux turned their attention to the boys. When the boys were located pursuit began.

One arrow imbedded itself in Nat's forearm. He broke the shaft. A second arrow entered his back near the shoulder blade, punctured one lung and came out his chest, then imbedded itself in Robert's back near the spine. A third arrow grazed Nat's hip and inflicted a wound on Robert's hip.

Both boys fell from the pony before they could reach the "soddy."

Other members of the Martin family, believing the boys had been killed and that the Sioux probably would return, headed for Fort Kearney, 40 miles to the west. En route they met an eastbound wagon train, spent the night with the encamped train, and returned to the Martin homestead the afternoon of the following day.

Extended Forecasts

NEBRASKA: Temperatures from Friday through Wednesday night will average near normal. Normal highs: 81-87; normal lows: 57-64. Temperatures will be warmer Saturday and Sunday and cooler on Monday and Tuesday. Rainfall will total up to .75 inch occurring intermittently Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

Summary Of Conditions

Little change in the weather map features can be expected through noon Saturday with a large high pressure area centered over the central portion of Illinois and a stationary front from north-west North Dakota to the northwest corner of Nebraska and into southwest New Mexico. There is another Pacific front presently located near central Montana to south central Idaho and west central Nevada which will be located where the stationary front is by noon. With the new Pacific front overtaking the stationary front, the combination of the two will start the system to move especially over the northern section.

Forrest Fisher, against Midwestern Investment.

The plaintiffs allege that in Feb., 1962, they were solicited by the company for the purchase of shares of capital stock; and that the company represented that the stock had book value of as much as $10 per share, when actually directors, officers and other persons had purchased more than 50,000 shares at $1 per share.

Say Not Approved

The plaintiffs allege that the defendant firm represented to them that the Bureau of Securities of the State Department of Banking had approved the stock issue and shares which the plaintiffs had been solicited to purchase, when actually the State Department of Banking had not approved, authorized, licensed or registered the stock for general public sale and solicitation.

The petition states that the State Banking Department Bureau of Securities had required the defendants and the firm had agreed that the stock of the corporation might be offered to its original holders at the rate of $3.50 per share.

The plaintiffs allege that more than 50,000 shares were sold at $1 per share; 10,000 at $3.50; 1,200 at $5; 5,000 at $6 and less than 2,000 at $10.

Accelerator Bid Chances Good—Callan

Washington (AP)—Rep. Clair Callan said Friday that he believes Nebraska's bid for the proposed new $250 million proton accelerator facility has "a good chance of surviving the first round of screening."

The Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) has received 86 different proposals involving 100 sites in 42 states, Callan said.

The list will probably be reduced to between 12 and 20 proposals by the end of July, he noted.

"Based on AEC criteria, we have a reasonable chance of qualifying," Callan said.

Among criteria listed are available land, abundant water and good access to highways and housing. The first District congressman said.

Two Nebraska applications were submitted for the federal facility, one proposing a portion of the Old Mead Ordnance Plant and the other proposing the old Sioux Ordnance Depot site near Sidney.

Actor Franciscus Is Fined $15 For Disturbing Peace

San Juan, Puerto Rico (AP)—Actor James Franciscus, television's well-mannered high school teacher, "Mr. Novak," was fined $15 Friday for disturbing the peace. Fines in the same amount were assessed against his brother John and their wives.

All four pleaded guilty in San Juan District Court to singing loudly after midnight on May 21. They still face charges of malicious damage for allegedly deflating the tires of cars belonging to a neighbor of John's. The case was continued for hearing Monday.

When Franciscus and his wife discovered they had only $20 between them, Judge Alma Delgado relented and accepted that amount for the fines. Franciscus' brother came with just enough to pay the $30 for himself and his wife.

When the malicious damage charges were filed last month, John Franciscus said it was his idea to empty the tires because his neighbor Victor Sindoni insisted on taking a parking spot Franciscus wanted to keep free for his wife Monica, who is expecting a child.

He said James, who had come to Puerto Rico for a television special called "Caribbean Holiday," had nothing to do with emptying the tires.

shares purchased at $10 per share; the Suhl's are seeking $8,250 for 500 shares at $6, 1,500 shares $3.50, and Fisher is seeking $13,250 for 1,500 shares purchased at $3.50, 500 at $6 and 500 at $10.

$10,500 Asked

A total of $10,500 is sought in the five suits filed by Arlie J. Suhl, Kathryn M. Sievers and Arlie J. Suhl, Forrest Fisher and Louise E. Fisher, Gerald R. Divoky, and Donald F. Divoky and Betty Ann Divoky, against Mid-Nebraska Investment Corp.

The petitions allege that the stock certificates were "tainted with irregularities in that the defendants knowingly, willingly, and willfully, solicited plaintiffs to purchase stock when the same had not been approved by the Bureau of Securities of the State Banking Department."

The plaintiffs allege that after purchasing the stock in January, 1962, the officers voted in July, 1962, that the stockholders could surrender shares and the directors would refund at the rate of $5 per share.

Payment Said Refused

The plaintiffs contend they offered to surrender their shares of stock and made demands for the compensation, but the defendants refused to make payment.

Suhls seeking $1,000 for 200 shares; Kathryn Sievers and Suhl are seeking $1,000 for 200 shares; the Fisher's are seeking $2,500 for 500 shares; G. Divoky, $1,000 for 200 shares, and the Donald Divoky's are seeking $5,000 for 1,000 shares.

Officers named as defendants in the Midwestern suits are: B.B. Wright, Lester E. Jones, M. L. Simmons, Emra L. Butler, Noral T. Brown and Josephine Brown.

Defendant officers named in the Mid-Nebraska suits are: B.B. Wright, Thomas C. Prehn, G.E. Deitemeyer, B.E. Burtch, Robert M. Barkley and Lois Prehn.

Dorothy Collins Gets Her Divorce From Composer

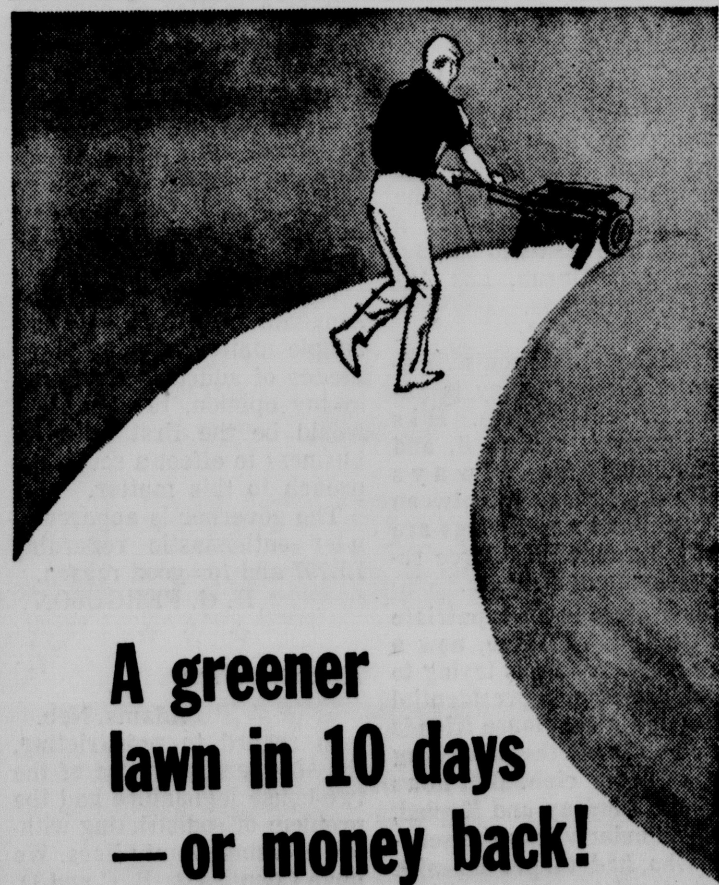

Santa Monica, Calif. (AP)—Singer Dorothy Collins won a divorce Friday from composer-conductor Raymond Scott with testimony that he was so critical he gave her asthma.

Miss Collins and Scott were married 12 years ago when she was the singing star and he the bandleader on the "Hit Parade" program on television.

She testified in Superior Court that Scott was a "martinet" who criticized her performances, her diction, her wardrobe and even her party manners.

Electronics Big Aid To Miss Nebraska Pageant

By JOHN LEE
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

York — Electronics have helped turn the Miss Nebraska Scholarship Pageant into a real Broadway-type production.

Bob Scheldecker, stationing himself at the edge of the stage, catches all the outstanding performances on a small television camera and pipes them through a closed circuit system to a screen in the dressing room to allow the contestants to watch the action on stage while they put on make-up and make the numerous costume changes.

Officials Pleased

It's the first time the system has been tried at a Nebraska pageant, and officials are pleased with the idea.

Master of ceremonies Darrel Junker of Fairbury carries a neck strap microphone to project his between-the-scenes song and dance routines with former Miss Nebraskas Mary Lee Jepsen (1962) and Donna Marie Black (1963).

Orchestra leader John Rogers gets his cues through a headset.

Congratulations came from all quarters to Ed Lonsdale and Roger Elder for their work in getting the pageant off to a smooth start Thursday.

Even the 36 contestants were so well prepared that rehearsals haven't required the amount of time allotted.

Producer Dick Wood said he was nervous because "everything's running so smoothly."

Omahan Drowns During Florida Vacation Trip

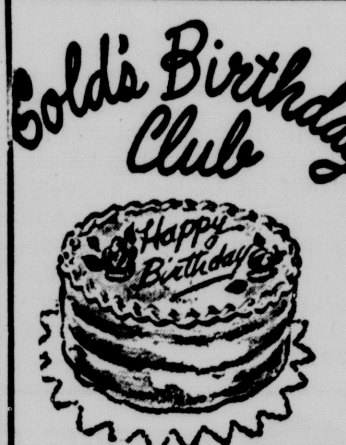

Fort Pierce, Fla. (UPI)—Frankie Lee Hohenhouse, 28, of Omaha, drowned Thursday while diving on the wreck of a sunken Spanish ship near here.

Hohenhouse was vacationing near here where he formerly lived.

The accident occurred when Hohenhouse was trying out new scuba diving equipment in shallow water.

He is survived by his wife, a daughter, his parents and a sister, all of Omaha.

Services will be held Saturday at the Yates funeral home here.

Marker To Commemorate Ordeal Of Boys Pinned Together By Arrow While On Pony

Lincoln Star Special

Grand Island—A historical marker commemorating the ordeal of two pioneer boys who were pinned together by an arrow as the two rode on one pony in an attempt to escape raiding Sioux Indians will be unveiled in ceremonies Sunday near the site of the Indian attack in 1864.

Both boys, Nat Martin, 14, and his brother, Robert, 11, at the time of the attack, survived their wounds. Robert Martin died in Ellsworth, Kan., in 1899 and Nat Martin died in Hastings in 1928.

The marker, a statue of two boys astride a pony at full gallop, with an arrow through the body of one and imbedded into the body of the boy in front, will be unveiled by Mrs. Alva Johnston of Grand Island, a daughter of Nat Martin.

The ceremony and program will be held on the Howard Weaver farm seven miles southwest of Doniphan and three miles south of the Alda State Highway 80 at 2:30 p.m. Sunday.

Senator Carl T. Curtis will deliver the address. E-mail

Roeser, president of the Hall County Historical Society, will be master of ceremonies.

The surprise attack by the Sioux came near the end of an early fall day when the Martin boys and their father, George Martin, were hauling hay from a field northeast of the Martin home east in the Platte Valley.

As the Sioux swooped into

NEBRASKA NEWS

the valley from hills to the south, Mr. Martin lashed his team and by use of his Spencer repeating rifle managed to hold off the Indians, although wounded by an arrow in his neck, until he reached the safety of his "soddy."

Temporarily Hid

The boys, some distance behind their father, were on a load of hay drawn by a yoke of oxen led by one horse. They cut the oxen loose, leaped on the horse with Robert in front, and headed for a small knoll which provided cover and which temporarily hid them from the Indians.

Foiled in their attempt to kill the elder Martin, the Sioux turned their attention to the boys. When the boys were located pursuit began.

One arrow imbedded itself in Nat's forearm. He broke the shaft. A second arrow entered his back near the shoulder blade, punctured one lung and came out his chest, then imbedded itself in Robert's back near the spine. A third arrow grazed Nat's hip and inflicted a wound on Robert's hip.

Both boys fell from the pony before they could reach the "soddy."

Other members of the Martin family, believing the boys had been killed and that the Sioux probably would return, headed for Fort Kearny, 40 miles to the west. En route they met an eastbound wagon train, spent the night with the encamped train, and returned to the Martin homestead the afternoon of the following day.

Against Unfair Competition

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Sometimes the odds get so great that they are too much for the struggling individual. In California, for instance, the odds against farmers sometimes become insurmountable. They do so when the farm is crowded by sprawling city life, when it runs into the tax levies of major metropolitan areas.

The Christian Science Monitor reports that the California Legislature may soon act to save some of its farms from the bulldozer. The bill considered would permit cities and counties to slap a tax freeze on prime farmlands. As it is now, local levies pile up so high that many close-in farms can't produce enough to survive as farms. Under the bill, reports the Monitor, communities would contract with landowners to put farms in preserves, safe not only from developers, but from public agencies armed with the power of eminent domain.

The problem in California is much greater than it is in Nebraska and this state would not be likely to adopt such a law at this time. But the situation is not without its parallels in this state. There are farms in Nebraska that suffer from a tax point of view as a result of their proximity to metropolitan areas.

What California is doing is eliminating the matter of value and looking at the matter of use in determining taxation. The same thing could well be done in Nebraska. Rural land on the fringes of a metropolitan area bears a heavy load when taxed according to its market value. This is particularly true when the land is used for farming and such use is the continuing objective of the owner.

The principles involved really are not new. The fact is that we already look at use rather than value in granting tax exemptions in many areas. There are the old classics of religious, charitable and educational and the more questionable class of industry. The first three get little argument but tax exemption for industry is one we find hard to buy. Yet, industry is often exempted through the refusal of communities to annex them and there is a growing body of law even to prohibit metropolitan annexation of industrial areas established by edict of county government. It seems a little strange that Nebraska gives such preference to industry in the common understanding of that term when agriculture is the largest industry we have in the broad application of the term.

No Way To Win

We are not the only ones having trouble with our statecraft. It seems to be a time of the world when a friendly word to one makes another number of others mad.

The British have just found this out. Recently it sent Queen Elizabeth out to make a few international friends. In West Germany, she was a little hard put to find a topic that could be pleasant to both countries. The closest Great Britain has been to Germany since 1914 has been while their respective troops were fighting each other.

So the queen thought back 150 years. She thought of the Battle of Waterloo, in Belgium, when the Germans and British and others ganged up to whip Napoleon's French forces. That was the beginning of the end for the Napoleonic empire.

The British think highly of Waterloo. It ranks, as an important battle, with Agincourt, Crecy, Blenheim, the Nile and Trafalgar. Incidentally all of them were fought against the French.

Much the same problem was discussed by members of the Nebraska Motel-Hotel Association at its meeting in Lincoln this week. The group decided to begin a campaign against the unfair competition of tax-exempt organizations engaged in the food business. One can easily understand the position of the motel and hotel group. Hotels once were a major place for wedding receptions but many such receptions these days are held in churches. Churches, of course, are tax-exempt, which means they can greatly undersell their facilities for any kind of private or semi-private gathering.

The statewide situation in regard to fraternal groups is undoubtedly varied, depending upon the policies and practices of the city and county in which the group is located. Some probably are not taxed at all while others are taxed in varying degrees. In Lincoln, the practice is to tax fraternal groups for such income-producing facilities as restaurants and bars.

Even in the Lincoln situation, one wonders if there are complete equity and justice. Beyond the fraternal organizations in Lincoln are certain government operations that function with a substantial tax advantage. Pershing Municipal Auditorium serves food on a large scale to conventions and other gatherings but pays no taxes on its facilities.

The food there is catered in from a private food service company that does pay taxes but the auditorium still has a big advantage over downtown hotels that compete with it for business. The same thing is true of the Center for Continuing Education on the University of Nebraska East Campus. It even has its own food service, serving and lodging facilities. But it doesn't pay any taxes and thereby has a big competitive advantage over hotels. Theoretically, it isn't in competition with hotels and motels because it serves an educational clientele that hotels and motels could not get to begin with but we all know there is at least some fiction to that theory.

There are a lot of plain old conventions that have become "educational" experiences since the Nebraska Center has been completed. We don't profess to know a perfect solution for the situation but it can't be denied that the hotel and motel groups have some good points to make in their behalf.

Well, the Queen pleased the Germans well enough by mentioning Waterloo. But now De Gaulle is furious. He sees in this bit of international conversation the beginning of a scheme between the British and Germans to do in France. Actually the Germans have needed no outside help since 1870. Mr. De Gaulle has not read his modern history carefully. The British have been helping to save France for almost 100 years.

At any rate subsequent to the Queen's pleasantries with the Germans her ambassador at Brussels, Belgium, had planned a dance the night before the anniversary of Waterloo just as it took place 150 years ago. But there will be no French ambassador present. He wisely decided to be out of town at that juncture.

Well, so goes good will missions nowadays. Make a friend; lose a friend.

What Worries Us Most?

A popular poll taker set forth to learn what are the greatest concerns of the American individual.

There was bad news in it for those who like to believe the moral and ethical concerns rank high. In this poll they didn't.

Only one per cent of those polled admitted to a concern about infidelity to their spouse. Only three per cent worried about padding expense accounts. Only four per cent thought they lost too much gambling, while 2 per cent worried about taking unfair advantage of an acquaintance in order to improve his position.

We admit that the poll taker may have stumbled into a group that was unusually ethical and didn't have any problems, but otherwise the percentages didn't sound very typical.

Surprisingly enough the greatest concern had to do with being unfit physically, 61 per cent. Overeating must have been the biggest cause because it worried 60 per cent. Forty per cent thought they wasted too much time while 33 per cent thought they looked at TV too much. Thirty five per cent thought they were spending more than they could afford. Nineteen per cent thought they were drinking too much. Fourteen per cent were worried because they didn't vote.

From this we take it that the ideal American would be a person of fine athletic figure who could resist food, who would not enjoy idleness and who voted at every election. This picture would be rounded out if he didn't drink too much.

We would say this would be a laudable aim for a robot, but we are not sure that it fits the general ideal of a good person.

Editorial Of The Day

The Fun Is Gone

From The Denver Post

One of the serious problems of our advanced and specialized and highly affluent society is that nobody seems to have as much fun as they used to have. It has gotten so bad that even a professor is worrying about it.

Of course the professor is retired, because it would be most unseemly for a non-retiring professor to tell the world that colleges were being turned into training machines. That is just about what he said.

Dr. William C. DeVane is the man. This spring he gave up his job as dean of Yale College after 25 years. He has stepped down to teach a freshman course and that is about all. Dr. DeVane was talking specifically about college students who worry so much under the pressures they face that they have no time for gaiety.

We suspect, too, that by the time they get out of college they have forgotten how to laugh. Well, why not? They are told from the day that they enter high school that they must watch their marks constantly. A bad grade in algebra in the freshman's high school year may knock him out of the college of his choice.

Also, the student is told that straight A's are not enough; he must be captain of the football team, a member of the debating society, and voted friendliest in his class or some such.

So what happens? In this society, Charlie Chaplins do not flourish, nor Mark Twains. There is very little room for fun and games, and practically no room at all for relaxation. In fact, the whole process of education has taken on an aspect of training instead of intellectual stimulation.

Thoughts About A Boy's Graduation

DEAR GRANDSON: Congratulations on your graduation from high school today. Not only is it a great day today, but will be an even greater day as you look back on it and rejoice that, despite all the headaches and heartaches and the hard work, you stuck with it and made the grade. Thousands of other boys all over the country who dropped out of high school are now working and getting special government training to make up for the fact that they got discouraged and quit.

I know you will look back on this day because that's what I've been doing lately. I went up to New Hampshire where I was graduated from Phillips Exeter Academy a long time ago, and took in a class reunion. Class reunions make you feel quite old. But they also bring back a flood of memories.

I remembered how the Lusitania was sunk when I was in school and how we debated what the United States should do about it. It was sunk by a German submarine, after the German government had warned by ads in New York newspapers, that it would be sunk and that no Americans should sail on it.

William Jennings Bryan resigned as secretary of state in disagreement with Woodrow Wilson when Wilson insisted on taking a tough stand against Germany. And this incident, which we debated as school boys, was the beginning of gradual American involvement in World War I.

DORIS FLESON

Kuchel May Try For Governor

SAN FRANCISCO — With the rising prospects of Rep. John W. Lindsay in New York City, visions of an East-West coalition of moderate Republicans able to name the next national ticket have begun to dance in many heads on the two coasts.

Sen. Thomas Kuchel of California, the lively GOP Senate whip, is among them. Kuchel's troubles with the right wing of his party did not prevent him from carrying all of the state's 57 counties when he was re-elected in 1962.

Many reasons now tempt him to seek undisputed control of his party in the big, rich state which has nudged New York from the head of the line. It can't be done from Washington. He must run for governor next year to achieve it.

This race presents a clear and present danger to the Kuchel-Lindsay brand of Republicanism. Conservatives are coalescing around actor Ronald Reagan and put financial temptation before managers of Kuchel and Gov. Nelson Rockefeller sufficient to persuade them to replace Reagan.

Kuchel would rightly expect a steady war of attrition against his influence should Reagan be nominated, much less elected. A phrase creeping into the conversation of Kuchel associates is "Poor Old Pat."

Most of my classmates and I got into that war before it was over, and I couldn't help thinking about it at my class reunion and wondering whether the events in Vietnam, now going from bad to worse, might suck us into another war.

None of my old classmates, however, seemed to worry much about it. They were interested in the stock market and bridge and business.

But I have found that the youngsters in school and the colleges do worry. This is a healthy sign. Some of my classmates criticized them for picking the White House and protesting our policies in Vietnam, and for going down to Mississippi to crusade for Negro voting rights.

But if the young people of today don't have convictions that they are willing to stand up for, they and the nation will sink into the paunchy baldheaded, dull-as-dishwater complacency of the old grads of my day.

Another thing I thought about at my class reunion was teachers. Teachers have a tough time, I know because I once was one. But, as I look back, they do more to mold the youth of the nation than anyone else in the nation.

So congratulations on getting through your first bout with the teachers and here's hoping you go on to be guided and molded by other teachers until the day may come when you yourself may be a builder of men.

With much love,
GRANDFATHER

ON TARGET

By DON WALTON

Let's build ourselves a limb quickly.

This 1965 Legislature is full of surprises. Every week, it seems, these 49 senators break with tradition, knock down old barriers, sail forth on uncharted seas, march into forbidden territory, tear into problems that have plagued the state for decades—and take action.

Who ever heard of such a thing?

The tried and true formula of the past has been to submit all the tough ones to interim study committees.

The idea was to ax the tigers in committee after a long and fair hearing and, if any slipped onto somehow onto the floor, get 'em quick on general file. Then, someone would suggest a study.

Thus, lawmakers eased off the hot seat and passed Nebraska's really difficult problems onto the next Legislature, and the next, and the next.

The 1963 Legislature altered the formula — most everything was allowed to reach the floor, and a number of major pieces of legislation were enacted.

That Legislature established a statewide educational television network; provided for a schedule of tax assessment reappraisals in all counties and periodic review of all tax-exempt property; created the Nebraska Power Review Board; adopted a program of medical care for the needy aged, and approved the Unicameral's first legislative reapportionment act.

But this Legislature is something quite different. It is enacting equally important legislation, but what makes it unique is the fact that it has taken on the Big Two, the twin terrors which past legislatures dared not touch.

This Legislature stands on the brink of broadening Nebraska's tax base.

And, unless unforeseen events occur in the next few weeks, it is going to reorganize public power.

The preceding sentence is the limb, constructed a little too late to save face, but in time to cushion the fall.

We wrote several weeks ago in this column that, despite the optimism of the proponents of LB764, we just could not imagine the Legislature approving a reorganization bill which changes the status of Consumers, Loup and Platte against the strong protests of the latter two.

This week, that bill strode across general file. That didn't surprise us.

But the vote did. It came on like gangbusters. Like the Jolly Green Giant at a pixie picnic. The count was 31-8 to advance, and only 11 senators voted to kill the bill, even after nine hours of debate and more than a few minutes of confusion.

That vote indicates—even to opponents of the bill—that it will pass. It does not guarantee final approval, but if you are going to bet against it, you are now in a position to demand odds.

We based our earlier opinion on tradition, on past legislative reluctance to even consider public power reorganization proposals.

What one must accept is the fact that this Legislature is not bound to tradition. It is an activist Legislature. It is a do-something Legislature.

So, how about the income tax?

Both sides predict a victory on Tuesday.

All week rumors have spread through the chambers that this senator has switched, and that one is about to change.

Support for the bill is now estimated at anywhere from 23 to 26 senators. It will need 25.

At least we built a limb on this one long ago. We cling to it.

This was the week that the Legislature closed a girls' gym and Phil Sorensen cast his first historic vote breaking a tie.

Sorensen's nay vote came on a motion to adjourn. Presumably, he is prepared to run on his record.

(Note: So that remark is not taken the wrong way by those who can see no humor in it, suffice it to say that Sorensen has constructed a real record in the manner in which he has performed his duties and his willingness to take a position on difficult, but crucial, issues. His opponents do not even argue with that, though they plan to use his record against him.)

It was also the week that lawmakers received a resolution opposing repeal of the "right-to-work" section of the Taft-Hartley Act. Its fate carries all the suspense of Nebraska's recent pigskin scrimmages with neighboring institutions in the Dakotas.

Duis Amendment

McCook, Neb.

The title of your editorial in The Star of June 16 may well be the reason that the governor is unwilling either to "fish or cut bait." It is a "tangled tax web" by virtue of such items as the Duis Amendment. However, I believe the governor would either "fish or cut bait" or perhaps both if a sound approach could be made to increase state revenue. The governor has said that he felt the state should remain in the property tax field and this is entirely reasonable.

It appears to me that LB797 is somewhat of a replacement to the property tax by virtue of the Duis Amendment and therefore is undesirable. It is my opinion that this amendment is deterrent to all effort to effect added state revenue and it is understandable.

It is a matter of common knowledge that we will be obliged to effect some means to increase state revenue but this purpose cannot best be served by "doing away" with our present tax system which, as you say, has been in effect for nearly a hundred years.

Were it not for the Duis Amendment, it would be a simple matter to effect some means of added income and, in my opinion, to remove it would be the first order of business to effect a sound approach to this matter.

The governor is apparently not enthusiastic regarding LB797 and for good reason.

Redistricting

Adams, Neb.

In regard to redistricting, the 100-member house of the two-house legislature had the problem of redistricting without crossing county lines. We have Counties A, B, C and D, each with 25,000 population, and population required for a district, 33,000. Counties A and B, District 1; Counties C and D, District 2; Counties A, B, C and D, District 3. This gave us what we called at that time a float representative.

Revised Statutes of Nebraska, 1913, Constitution of Nebraska, 1975:

Sec. 2: "The Legislature shall apportion the senators and representatives according to the number of inhabitants, excluding Indians not taxed and soldiers and officers of the United States Army and Navy." (Both houses according to population.)

Chapter 3, Sec. 219, Page 119, Revised Statutes, 1913, apportionment of House of Representatives.

Gage, District 31—two representatives.

Jefferson, District 32—one representative.

Thayer, District 33—one representative.

District 34—one representative from Gage, Jefferson and Thayer.

This pattern was followed throughout the state varying according to population. It could possibly solve not only the problem of crossing county lines but also that of placing two senators in the same district.

Father's Day

Lincoln, Neb.

Father's Day is fast approaching and I hope the children will see to it that poor old Dad gets a better break than poor old Mother got on Mother's Day.

So many old people are left alone to themselves nowadays. They spend most of their days up in some cheap room, with no telephone or TV, maybe just an old radio. It would be so pleasant if a son or daughter would drop by and ask them out for a little drive to see some of their offspring or to call on an old friend who is just as lonely.

So, sons and daughters, cheer them up — visit them — send them a card to show you still love them. Remember, sooner or later you will all be taking the same medicine that old age has to offer.

I think we should have more places like Boys Town for our boys. Here they learn a trade and also secure a good education. The boys do all the work and it is almost self-supporting. Perhaps, though, the parents of these boys could help to pay some of the expenses.

They have an athletic program and other amusements and recreation for the boys. This will make better men of them than having them in some of the colleges where many of both boys and girls are growing up in idleness.

Against Unfair Competition

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Sometimes the odds get so great that they are too much for the struggling individual. In California, for instance, the odds against farmers sometimes become insurmountable. They do so when the farm is crowded by sprawling city life, when it runs into the tax levies of major metropolitan areas.

The Christian Science Monitor reports that the California Legislature may soon act to save some of its farms from the bulldozer. The bill considered would permit cities and counties to slap a tax freeze on prime farmlands. As it is now, local levies pile up so high that many close-in farms can't produce enough to survive as farms. Under the bill, reports the Monitor, communities would contract with landowners to put farms in preserves, safe not only from developers, but from public agencies armed with the power of eminent domain.

The problem in California is much greater than it is in Nebraska and this state would not be likely to adopt such a law at this time. But the situation is not without its parallels in this state. There are farms in Nebraska that suffer from a tax point of view as a result of their proximity to metropolitan areas.

What California is doing is eliminating the matter of value and looking at the matter of use in determining taxation. The same thing could well be done in Nebraska. Rural land on the fringes of a metropolitan area bears a heavy load when taxed according to its market value. This is particularly true when the land is used for farming and such use is the continuing objective of the owner.

The principles involved really are not new. The fact is that we already look at use rather than value in granting tax exemptions in many areas. There are the old classics of religious, charitable and educational and the more questionable class of industry. The first three get little argument but tax exemption for industry is one we find hard to buy. Yet, industry is often exempted through the refusal of communities to annex them and there is a growing body of law even to prohibit metropolitan annexation of industrial areas established by edict of county government. It seems a little strange that Nebraska gives such preference to industry in the common understanding of that term when agriculture is the largest industry we have in the broad application of the term.

No Way To Win

We are not the only ones having trouble with our statecraft. It seems to be a time of the world when a friendly word to one makes another number of others mad.

The British have just found this out. Recently it sent Queen Elizabeth out to make a few international friends. In West Germany, she was a little hard put to find a topic that could be pleasant to both countries. The closest Great Britain has been to Germany since 1914 has been while their respective troops were fighting each other.

So the queen thought back 150 years. She thought of the Battle of Waterloo, in Belgium, when the Germans and British and others ganged up to whip Napoleon's French forces. That was the beginning of the end for the Napoleonic empire.

The British think highly of Waterloo. It ranks, as an important battle, with Agincourt, Crecy, Blenheim, the Nile and Tra-

Much the same problem was discussed by members of the Nebraska Motel-Hotel Association at its meeting in Lincoln this week. The group decided to begin a campaign against the unfair competition of tax-exempt organizations engaged in the food business. One can easily understand the position of the motel and hotel group. Hotels once were a major place for wedding receptions but many such receptions these days are held in churches. Churches, of course, are tax-exempt, which means they can greatly undersell their facilities for any kind of private or semi-private gathering.

The statewide situation in regard to fraternal groups is undoubtedly varied, depending upon the policies and practices of the city and county in which the group is located. Some probably are not taxed at all while others are taxed in varying degrees. In Lincoln, the practice is to tax fraternal groups for such income-producing facilities as restaurants and bars.

Even in the Lincoln situation, one wonders if there are complete equity and justice. Beyond the fraternal organizations in Lincoln are certain government operations that function with a substantial tax advantage. Pershing Municipal Auditorium serves food on a large scale to conventions and other gatherings but pays no taxes on its facilities.

The food there is catered in from a private food service company that does pay taxes but the auditorium still has a big advantage over downtown hotels that compete with it for business. The same thing is true of the Center for Continuing Education on the University of Nebraska East Campus. It even has its own food service, serving and lodging facilities. But it doesn't pay any taxes and thereby has a big competitive advantage over hotels. Theoretically, it isn't in competition with hotels and motels because it serves an educational clientele that hotels and motels could not get to begin with but we all know there is at least some fiction to that theory.

There are a lot of plain old conventions that have become "educational" experiences since the Nebraska Center has been completed. We don't profess to know a perfect solution for the situation but it can't be denied that the hotel and motel groups have some good points to make in their behalf.

Stretching Facts

Incidentally all of them were fought against the French.

Well the Queen pleased the Germans well enough by mentioning Waterloo. But now De Gaulle is furious. He sees in this bit of international conversation the beginning of a scheme between the British and Germans to do in France. Actually the Germans have needed no outside help since 1870. Mr. De Gaulle has not read his modern history carefully. The British have been helping to save France for almost 100 years.

At any rate subsequent to the Queen's pleasantries with the Germans her ambassador at Brussels, Belgium, had planned a dance the night before the anniversary of Waterloo just as it took place 150 years ago. But there will be no French ambassador present. He wisely decided to be out of town at that juncture.

Well, so goes good will missions nowadays. Make a friend; lose a friend.

What Worries Us Most?

A popular poll taker set forth to learn what are the greatest concerns of the American individual.

There was bad news in it for those who like to believe the moral and ethical concerns rank high. In this poll they didn't.

Only one per cent of those polled admitted to a concern about infidelity to their spouse. Only three per cent worried about padding expense accounts. Only four per cent thought they lost too much gambling, while 2 per cent worried about taking unfair advantage of an acquaintance in order to improve his position.

We admit that the poll taker may have stumbled into a group that was unusually ethical and didn't have any problems, but otherwise the percentages didn't sound very typical.

Surprisingly enough the greatest con-

Thoughts About A Boy's Graduation

DEAR GRANDSON: Congratulations on your graduation from high school today. Not only is it a great day today, but will be an even greater day as you look back on it and rejoice that, despite all the headaches and heartaches and the hard work, you stuck with it and made the grade. Thousands of other boys all over the country who dropped out of high school are now working and getting special government training to make up for the fact that they got discouraged and quit.

I know you will look back on this day because that's what I've been doing lately. I went up to New Hampshire where I was graduated from Phillips Exeter Academy a long time ago, and took in a class reunion. Class reunions make you feel quite old. But they also bring back a flood of memories.

I remembered how the Lusitania was sunk when I was in school and how we debated what the United States should do about it. It was sunk by a German submarine, after the German government had warned by ads in New York newspapers, that it would be sunk and that no Americans should sail on it.

William Jennings Bryan resigned as secretary of state in disagreement with Woodrow Wilson when Wilson insisted on taking a tough stand against Germany. And this incident, which we debated as school boys, was the beginning of gradual American involvement in World War I.

Kuchel May Try For Governor

SAN FRANCISCO — With the rising prospects of Rep. John V. Lindsay in New York City, visions of an East-West coalition of moderate Republicans able to name the next national ticket have begun to dance in many heads on the two coasts.

Sen. Thomas Kuchel of California, the lively GOP Senate whip, is among them. Kuchel's troubles with the right wing of his party did not prevent him from carrying all of the state's 57 counties when he was re-elected in 1962.

Many reasons now tempt him to seek undisputed control of his party in the big, rich state which has nudged New York from the head of the line. It can't be done from Washington. He must run for governor next year to achieve it.

This race presents a clear and present danger to the Kuchel-Lindsay brand of Republicanism. Conservatives are coalescing around actor Ronald Reagan and put financial temptation before managers of Kuchel and Gov. Nelson Rockefeller sufficient to persuade them to replace Reagan.

Kuchel would rightly expect a steady war of attrition against his influence should Reagan be nominated, much less elected. A phrase creeping into the conversation of Kuchel associates is "Poor Old Pat."

By DON WALTON

Let's build ourselves a limb quickly. This 1965 Legislature is full of surprises. Every week, it seems, these 49 senators break with tradition, knock down old barriers, sail forth on uncharted seas, march into forbidden territory, tear into problems that have plagued the state for decades—and take action.

Who ever heard of such a thing? The tried and true formula of the past has been to submit all the tough ones to interim study committees. The idea was to ax the tigers in committee after a long and fair hearing and, if any slipped onto somehow onto the floor, get 'em quick on general file. Then, someone would suggest a study.

Thus, lawmakers eased off the hot seat and passed Nebraska's really difficult problems onto the next Legislature, and the next, and the next. The 1963 Legislature altered the formula — most everything was allowed to reach the floor, and a number of major pieces of legislation were enacted.

That Legislature established a statewide educational television network; provided for a schedule of tax assessment reappraisals in all counties and periodic review of all tax-exempt property; created the Nebraska Power Review Board; adopted a program of medical care for the needy aged, and approved the Unicameral's first legislative reapportionment act.

But this Legislature is something quite different. It is enacting equally important legislation, but what makes it unique is the fact that it has taken on the Big Two, the twin terrors which past legislatures dared not touch.

This Legislature stands on the brink of broadening Nebraska's tax base. And, unless unforeseen events occur in the next few weeks, it is going to reorganize public power.

The preceding sentence is the limb, constructed a little too late to save face, but in time to cushion the fall. Life Begins At 40:

Retired Policemen In Demand

By ROBERT PETERSON
Most men who retire face slim pickings as far as job opportunities are concerned. But retired policemen and armed forces personnel are an exception. When they turn in their official uniforms they can generally walk into well-paying jobs with detective agencies. Fully 10% of the 14,000 personnel employed by the Burns Detective Agency, and the 19,000 personnel employed by Pinkerton's National Detective Agency are retired policemen and armed forces personnel.

Officials of these agencies say they've nearly always got job openings for healthy men with a background in law enforcement—regardless of their age. "More than 90% of our personnel are employed as guards," says John J. Lanning, head of the investigative division of the Burns Agency in New York. "Retired police officers are ideal recruits as guards and supervisory employees, and they not only collect their police pensions but often earn as much in their new jobs as they made during their previous careers." Careers in police and military service provide better financial security than most occupations. Armed forces personnel, and police and firemen in many cities can now retire after 20 years of service.

This means that by the time they're in their 40's, these men can quit and collect approximately half-pay pensions the rest of their lives. Instead of retiring to a life of leisure they generally take new jobs and start accumulating credits for another pension. Thus, when they finally retire in their 60's, they have two pensions plus maximum Social Security to sweeten the vicissitudes of old age.

Gretna (UPI) — Seven members of an Illinois family escaped injury Friday when their station wagon burned on Interstate 80, 1 1/2 miles east of the Gretna interchange. Officers said the Charles Shelby family of Fairbury, Ill., was returning from a California vacation. A broken fuel line was responsible for the fire, officers said. The Shelys saved most of their belongings.

convention delegates to a vote of the people won sturdy 35-8 initial floor approval in the Un-ameral Friday.

Debate on the measure, LB164, chiefly sponsored by Sen. Marvin E. Stromer of Lincoln, featured explosive verbal salvos fired at Nebraska Republican Party leadership by GOP state senators. Sen. William Hasebrook of West Point attempted in vain to remove from the bill provisions which would transfer the selection of at-large delegates from party state conventions to the primary ballot.

Hasebrook's major amendment was rejected on a 15-30 count. District delegates to the conventions are now selected by a vote of the people.

Was Violated
Stromer, sponsor of the legislation which allowed state conventions to name at-large delegates for the first time in 1964, said the intent of that act was violated by the "rigged" GOP state convention which named only delegates pledged to support Barry Goldwater.

For that reason, he said, he now seeks to return selection to the people and "for the first time in the history of this state, allow them to see who the delegate candidates favor for the presidential nomination."

LB164 provides that delegate candidates state their preference on the ballot and pledge to support their preference through two convention ballots unless released or until the candidate receives less than 35% of the convention vote. Delegates may run un-committed.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff suggested that the GOP nominate Sen. Chet Paxton of Theford for governor and Sen. Clifton Batchelder of Omaha for lieutenant governor as "the team which best reflects the leadership and ownership of the Republican Party."

Raps Ross
Carpenter lashed at National Committeeman Donald Ross of Omaha, suggesting that "if he is responsible leadership, then some of us ought to get out of the party."

Ross, he charged, "has used his title for his own personal gain in lobbying in this body." The image of the Nebraska GOP is "not acceptable to the rank and file of the people," Carpenter said.

Sen. Elvin Adamson of Valentine said he voted against the bill in committee, but has changed his mind "because I wonder about the sincerity of the Republican leadership after it takes a poll for governor in which it selects the candidates and those who will be polled."

Adamson said recent Nebraska GOP philosophy can best be described as "to heck with the people."

Iron Curtain
Stromer said Republican leaders have "driven an iron curtain" between the party and the people.

Sen. John Knight of Lincoln said 1964 Republican convention tactics in Lancaster County turned the GOP into a minority party in the county at the general election.

Hasebrook argued that selection of at-large delegates by state conventions stimulates party interest, eliminates the name recognition factor from choosing delegates, and would do away with the necessity of "a long and costly ballot." If mistakes were made in 1964, Hasebrook said, the party constitution can be revised to prevent them in the future.

Paxton said the bill would weaken the two-party system. He won support from Batchelder and Sen. Henry Pedersen Jr. of Omaha.

Paxton said Adamson has been "antagonistic to me ever since the poll came out" with Paxton's name on it. He said he is not a candidate for governor, or any other higher office.

Praises Democrats
Stromer praised Democratic leadership and Gov. Frank Morrison for "their belief that the lifeblood of the party is in the people."

All participants in the debate were Republicans. In addition to delegate provisions, LB164 authorizes a wide-open presidential primary vote in which the secretary of state would place on the ballot the names of all recognized presidential contenders unless they state in writing that they do not intend to be a candidate.

Voting with Hasebrook on his amendment were Senators Batchelder, Craft, Holmquist, Kjar, Lysinger, Moulton, Nelson, Nore, Paine, Paxton, Pedersen, Proud, Syas and Whitney.

Voting against advancement were Senators Hasebrook, Batchelder, Kjar, Moulton, Nelson, Paxton, Pedersen and Proud.

Life Begins At 40:

Retired Policemen In Demand

By ROBERT PETERSON
Most men who retire face slim pickings as far as job opportunities are concerned. But retired policemen and armed forces personnel are an exception. When they turn in their official uniforms they can generally walk into well-paying jobs with detective agencies.

Fully 10% of the 14,000 personnel employed by the Burns Detective Agency, and the 19,000 personnel employed by Pinkerton's National Detective Agency are retired policemen and armed forces personnel. Officials of these agencies say they've nearly always got job openings for healthy men with a background in law enforcement—regardless of their age.

"More than 90% of our personnel are employed as guards," says John J. Lanning, head of the investigative division of the Burns Agency in New York. "Retired police officers are ideal recruits as guards and supervisory employees, and they not only collect their police pensions but often earn as much in their new jobs as they made during their previous careers." Careers in police and military service provide better financial security than most occupations. Armed forces personnel, and police and firemen in many cities can now retire after 20 years of service.

This means that by the time they're in their 40's, these men can quit and collect approximately half-pay pensions the rest of their lives. Instead of retiring to a life of leisure they generally take new jobs and start accumulating credits for another pension.

Thus, when they finally retire in their 60's, they have two pensions plus maximum Social Security to sweeten the vicissitudes of old age.

7 Escape Injury As Station Wagon Burns By Gretna

Gretna (UPI) — Seven members of an Illinois family escaped injury Friday when their station wagon burned on Interstate 80, 1½ miles east of the Gretna interchange.

Officers said the Charles Shelby family of Fairbury, Ill., was returning from a California vacation. A broken fuel line was responsible for the fire, officers said. The Shelys saved most of their belongings.

convention delegates to a vote of the people won sturdy 35-8 initial floor approval in the Unicameral Friday.

Debate on the measure, LB164, chiefly sponsored by Sen. Marvin E. Stromer of Lincoln, featured explosive verbal salvos fired at Nebraska Republican Party leadership by GOP state senators.
Sen. William Hasebroock of West Point attempted in vain to remove from the bill provisions which would transfer the selection of at-large delegates from party state conventions to the primary ballot.

Hasebroock's major amendment was rejected on a 15-30 count.

District delegates to the conventions are now selected by a vote of the people.

Was Violated
Stromer, sponsor of the legislation which allowed state conventions to name at-large delegates for the first time in 1964, said the intent of that act was violated by the "rigged" GOP state convention which named only delegates pledged to support Barry Goldwater.

For that reason, he said, he now seeks to return selection to the people and "for the first time in the history of this state, allow them to see who the delegate candidates favor for the presidential nomination."

LB164 provides that delegate candidates state their preference on the ballot and pledge to support their preference through two convention ballots unless released or until the candidate receives less than 35% of the convention vote. Delegates may run uncommitted.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff suggested that the GOP nominate Sen. Chet Paxton of Thedford for governor and Sen. Clifton Batchelder of Omaha for lieutenant governor as "the team which best reflects the leadership and ownership of the Republican Party."

Raps Ross
Carpenter lashed at National Committeeman Donald Ross of Omaha, suggesting that "if he is responsible leadership, then some of us ought to get out of the party."

Ross, he charged, "has used his title for his own personal gain in lobbying in this body."

The image of the Nebraska GOP is "not acceptable to the rank and file of the people," Carpenter said.

Sen. Elvin Adamson of Valentine said he voted against the bill in committee, but has changed his mind "because I wonder about the sincerity of the Republican leadership after it takes a poll for governor in which it selects the candidates and those who will be polled."

Adamson said recent Nebraska GOP philosophy can best be described as "to heck with the people."

Iron Curtain
Stromer said Republican leaders have "driven an iron curtain" between the party and the people.

Sen. John Knight of Lincoln said 1964 Republican convention tactics in Lancaster County turned the GOP into a minority party in the county at the general election.

Hasebroock argued that selection of at-large delegates by state conventions stimulates party interest, eliminates the name recognition factor from choosing delegates, and would do away with the necessity of "a long and costly ballot."

If mistakes were made in 1964, Hasebroock said, the party constitution can be revised to prevent them in the future.

Paxton said the bill would weaken the two-party system. He won support from Batchelder and Sen. Henry Pedersen Jr. of Omaha.

Paxton said Adamson has been "antagonistic to me ever since the poll came out" with Paxton's name on it. He said he is not a candidate for governor, or any other higher office.

Water Pollution Control Lab Sought

Washington — Rep. Callan, D-Nebr., is plugging for Public Health Service has not been able to get administrative approval for a water pollution control laboratory in the Missouri River Basin.

Callan said Missouri and Nebraska appear to be the logical locations for such a laboratory. In April the 10-state Missouri River states committee meeting in Omaha, adopted a resolution asking that such a laboratory be located somewhere in the 529,000 square mile Missouri River basin. The laboratories have been directed by a 1961 law giving the secretary of health, education and welfare authority for preventing and controlling water pollution.

Callan said one problem is that the University of Nebraska does not have a water pollution research program. He said selection of a location for new federal research and other installations frequently hinges on local research activities.

Colleges Told They May Lose Aid If They Let Fraternities Discriminate

Washington (UPI) — Colleges and universities were put on notice Friday that they might lose federal financial aid if they permit fraternities to discriminate on racial or religious grounds.

The warning came from U.S. Education Commissioner Francis Keppel in a letter to Sen. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., who had asked what stand the Office of Education would take on such discriminations.

In a reply, Keppel said the civil rights act of 1964 required an institution of higher education to agree that there would be no discrimination against students when it applies for federal funds. The letter was released by Metcalf's office.

Instructions Explicit

Keppel said instructions issued by the Health, Education and Welfare Department were "quite explicit" in applying to fraternities as well as to other activities at colleges seeking federal aid.

He pointed to language which said all students should be given "opportunities to participate in any educational, research, cultural, athletic, recreational, social or other program or activity..."

Keppel also cited language in the civil rights act stating that no person shall "be subjected to discrimination under any program or activity receiving federal financial assistance."

Metcalf asked for Keppel's views after learning of the suspension of the Sigma Chi chapter at Stanford University at Palo Alto, Calif., by the national fraternity.

The suspension came shortly after the chapter pledged a Negro student, Kenneth M. Washington, son of a Denver, Colo., physician. The senator is an alumnus of the Stanford chapter.

Salinger Weds Paris Writer

Former White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger, 40, kisses his bride, the former Nicole Helene Grinnall, 26, after they married in Paris Friday. The brown-haired bride is a writer for a group of Paris magazines. It was Salinger's third marriage.

Dirksen, Bayh Nearer Remap Compromise

Washington (AP) — Two key senators inched hopefully Friday toward a compromise on the stormy issue of how to apportion state legislatures.

The issue springs from the recent Supreme Court decision that both branches of state legislatures must be apportioned on a population basis.

The "one-man, one-vote" decision would break a rural domination of legislatures in some states where most of the population is in big cities and their suburbs.

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen is the author of a proposal to amend the Constitution to permit one branch of a legislature to be appointed on a basis other than population.

Dirksen told reporters "we're reasonably close together" in efforts to work out a compromise.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., chairman of the constitutional rights subcommittee now considering Dirksen's measure, issued a statement declaring "we're much closer to agreement than I had thought we would be."

He and Dirksen expressed the views after a 90-minute closed door subcommittee meeting in Dirksen's office. Another meeting is set for Tuesday.

Colleges Told They May Lose Aid If They Let Fraternities Discriminate

Washington (UPI) — Colleges and universities were put on notice Friday that they might lose federal financial aid if they permit fraternities to discriminate on racial or religious grounds.

The warning came from U.S. Education Commissioner Francis Keppel in a letter to Sen. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., who had asked what stand the Office of Education would take on such discriminations.

In a reply, Keppel said the civil rights act of 1964 required an institution of higher education to agree that there would be no discrimination against students when it applies for federal funds. The letter was released by Metcalf's office.

Instructions Explicit

Keppel said instructions issued by the Health, Education and Welfare Department were "quite explicit" in applying to fraternities as well as to other activities at colleges seeking federal aid.

He pointed to language which said all students should be given "opportunities to participate in educational, research, cultural, athletic, recreational, social or other program or activity . . ."

Keppel also cited language in the civil rights act stating that no person shall "be subjected to discrimination under any program or activity receiving federal financial assistance."

Metcalf asked for Keppel's views after learning of the suspension of the Sigma Chi chapter at Stanford University at Palo Alto, Calif., by the national fraternity.

The suspension came shortly after the chapter pledged a Negro student, Kenneth M. Washington, son of a Denver, Colo., physician. The senator is an alumnus of the Stanford chapter.

Salinger Weds Paris Writer

Former White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger, 40, kisses his bride, the former Nicole Helene Gillmann, 26, after they married in Paris Friday. The brown-haired bride is a writer for a group of Paris magazines. It was Salinger's third marriage.

Dirksen, Bayh Nearer Remap Compromise

Washington (AP) — Two key senators inched hopefully Friday toward a compromise on the stormy issue of how to apportion state legislatures.

The issue springs from the recent Supreme Court decision that both branches of state legislatures must be apportioned on a population basis.

The "one-man, one-vote" decision would break rural domination of legislatures in some states where most of the population is in big cities and their suburbs.

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen is the author of a proposal to amend the Constitution to permit one branch of a legislature to be appointed on a basis other than population.

Dirksen told reporters "we're reasonably close together" in efforts to work out a compromise.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., chairman of the constitutional rights subcommittee now considering Dirksen's measure, issued a statement declaring "we're much closer to agreement than I had thought we would be."

He and Dirksen expressed the views after a 90-minute closed door subcommittee meeting in Dirksen's office. Another meeting is set for Tuesday.

IT'S OPEN HOUSE at Your Church

HIS DAY

Come Sunday, the world will pay homage to a very special fellow.
He is the husband—the father—the breadwinner and the sturdy foundation of our community. We pause to do him honor. He may be gruff, and stern, and tanned of face, but he is Dad. Just get an x-ray of his heart if you really want to see something rare. What strange, but wonderful people these fathers are. They are the world's easiest victims of love's attack. Just pour on a little attention, seasoned with about two parts of tenderness and give in very small doses...since he could never stand a big dose. Then just sit back and watch his big heart warm up. It will respond in true father fashion. This Father's Day, won't you take him to God's House for an hour of worship?

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that the family and influences for a better citizenship and a stronger democracy. In the church the individual and the molding religious character. Statesmen today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we ask Sunday: "You in the Church and the Church in you" form a combination for good. Be a regular CHURCH-GOER and a daily BIBLE READER.

Jaunty Air Commander Chosen Viet Premier

Saigon (AP)—Brig Gen Nguyen Cao Ky, commander of South Viet Nam's air force, Saturday accepted the job of premier.

Ky, 34, said: "I accept the job and will try and do my best to serve the people and the nation."

He called it "a great honor."

Ky is the youngest premier in the history of the Vietnamese republic. A flamboyant, moustachioed airman, Ky has personally led his planes on air strikes against the Communists.

8 Governments

Saigon has had eight governments since the overthrow and assassination of President Ngo Dinh Diem 20 months ago on Nov. 1, 1963.

Ky succeeds Phan Huy Quat who quit after a dispute with former Chief of State Phan Khac Suu and opposition from religious elements.

The new government headed by Ky is made up of eight high-ranking military officers.

Although close American associates like him, Ky has sowed controversy among Vietnamese political factions and high U.S. officials had urged the new military regime against naming him as premier.

Call For Austerity

In his acceptance speech at the Dien Hong Conference Hall on the banks of the Saigon River, Ky said South Viet Nam faced a critical period. He called for austerity on the part of the people.

The jaunty pilot has been air force commander since a month after the coup against Diem. The air force, with American aid, has grown steadily under his leadership.

An advocate of high morale, Ky affected a tailored black flying suit with lavender ascot and a pistol belt usually slung around his hips. His pilots often copied his style of dress.

Ky has been married several times. All of his wives have been exceptionally pretty.

Mental Facilities Urged In General Hospitals

Nebraska's first long-range comprehensive mental health plan was discussed by some 300 delegates at the second Nebraska Congress on Mental Health Friday at the Nebraska Center.

The 10-year program proposes increasing direct patient services for people at or near their home areas by integrating mental health facilities into general hospitals, both private and public.

To achieve this, the plan suggests regional facilities be built and the bed capacities of the state mental institutions be gradually reduced.

Some delegates disagreed with the proposal. One doctor commented that the staffs of most general hospitals lack the training to adequately help mental patients.

Training Urged

Another key point in the plan, calls for in-service training of teachers, counselors, probation officers, ministers and others who deal with mental patients before psychiatrists.

Delegates discussed better utilization of the clergy and the possibilities of having more full-time ministers in institutions dealing with mental health.

The plan set priorities for certain areas, including:

—Development of suitable criteria to establish the "at risk" child population and

Steps Taken Toward Unity By Lutherans

Detroit (AP)—Tentative steps toward a unified Lutheran Church in the United States have been taken by delegates to the 46th annual Missouri Synod convention.

An hour-long floor discussion centered about resolutions on a proposed Lutheran Council in the United States of America. They were the first such discussions in the history of the traditionally separatist synod.

The LCUSA would unify the synod with the American Lutheran Church and the Lutheran Church in America. The former agreed to the proposal at its convention last year. The Lutheran Church in America is slated to discuss the move at its 1966 meeting.

No decision on the proposal is expected from the synod until the end of its convention June 26.

The 10,000 delegates re-elected the Rev. Dr. Roland Wiederanders of St. Louis and the Rev. Dr. Theodore Nickel of Chicago to two-year terms as synod vice presidents.

The Rev. Dr. W. Harry Krieger, president of the synod's Michigan district, also was named to a vice presidency.

LBJ To Sign Tax Repeal Monday

Washington (AP)—President Johnson said Friday he will wait until Monday to sign the excise tax repeal bill so merchants will have time to take inventories on items which will be affected the next day.

"The benefits of this measure will begin flowing to consumers, producers and retailers on Tuesday," Johnson said, in a statement welcoming congressional approval Thursday of the legislation he requested.

The $4.6-billion-a-year repeal on the day after the President signs it will wipe out the levies ranging from a few cents to hundreds of dollars on a long list of products.

Melachrino Dies

George Melachrino, 55, band leader and composer popular both in Britain and the United States, was found dead in the bath in his London home Friday. He was known for his sentimental style of music. He formed the Melachrino orchestra and the "Melachrino Strings" and also composed the background music for several movies.

EUB Delegates Re-Elect Dr. Roker

Dr. Donald Roker, former pastor of the Lincoln Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Church, has been re-elected superintendent of the Nebraska Conference of the EUB, meeting in its 92nd annual session in Lincoln.

Dr. Roker, in his report to the 168 delegates representing 100 churches and 12,700 members, pointed out that the net increase in EUB Church members was greater in 1964 than the past seven years.

Bishop Paul W. Milhouse announced the following new assignments of ministers.

Escaping Czechs Halted By Guards

Schirnding, Germany (AP)—Several Czechoslovakians attempting to smash through a border barrier into West Germany with a heavy crane were stopped by Czech border guard bullets, police reported.

Bavarian border police said the crane was forced to a halt only a few yards away from the border line. They reported at least one Czechoslovak was shot to death.

NEWS

of guests, travelers in suburbia

Suitcases are being packed and unpacked this morning as five Lincoln families send their high school daughters to an education seminar in New York City. Another household welcomes home a member who has spent the school year at Harvard University.

PRAIRIE HEIGHTS

From Prairie Heights comes news of traveling plans.

Honored guests on Wednesday evening were five seniors at Southeast High School who will leave Lincoln Sunday to attend a three-week Future Teachers elementary education seminar in New York City.

Selected by their faculty advisors for the trip were Ginny Hanson, Pam Carrier, Barbara Hamilton, Linda Jeffrey and Cindy Null.

The farewell dinner was held at the home of Cindy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Null.

While in New York City, the group will be housed in dormitories at Mills College of Education and although their official schedule will be filled with visits to settlement houses and various schools in the city, the travelers also have plans for a trip to the World's Fair.

EASTMONT

Steven Coy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Coy, recently returned home from Harvard where he is a science major. While at Harvard, Steven earned recognition on the honor roll. Other Coy news includes the fact that Ginny will spend the summer in Europe on a University of Nebraska sponsored tour.

COTNER TERRACE

Sunday travelers to Syracuse were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ebert. Mr. and Mrs. Ebert motored to Syracuse to spend the day with Mr. Ebert's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Goad and with Mr. Ebert's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Max Ebert. The Syracuse foursome prepared a Sunday night dinner for the visitors from Lincoln.

Arriving in Lincoln on Thursday were Mrs. Bill Young and son Billy. The two some motored to the city from Anadarko, Okla., for a visit with their cousins Mr. and Mrs. Lee Kruse and their family. After a short visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kruse, the guests were to accompany Mrs. Kruse and her son, Mark, to Bassett where the first stop was at the home of Mrs. Kruse and Mrs. Young's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lanz. The traveling foursome will be guests of the Bassett couple for a predicted three weeks. But, we mentioned that the stop at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lanz was the first stop and for the second stop we need to mention only the two feminine travelers, Mrs. Kruse and Mrs. Young scarcely had time to unpack, Friday, because Friday evening was the night that Bassett High School held its Alum banquet and the two attended the get-together.

EASTBOROUGH

Suburban residents, this time from Eastborough, who have left the area and moved to another section of the city are Mr. and Mrs. Roland L. Reed who now reside at 1415 So. 26th St. Their former address was 338 Prestwick Road.

HOLLYWOOD HEIGHTS

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph A. Damkroger and their children, Maurice, 13 years old; Carol, 10, and Steve, 5, went to DeWitt recently to have dinner with Mr. Damkroger's mother Mrs. Albert Damkroger.

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Lyons stayed at home last weekend to entertain houseguests from Colorado Springs, Colo. They were Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Benson, and their children, Barbara and Pamela.

widows have fun

We don't know whether or not it's true that 'blondes have more fun,' but we're quite certain that the wives of the Swingfest participants aren't exactly wallflowers, regardless of the color of their hair.

Today the merry Swingfest widows were together for a luncheon at the Lincoln Country Club, and judging from the picture we're guessing they're much more relaxed than their golfing husbands.

On Thursday evening the Swingfest wives were together for a no hostess dinner at the Inter Com Club, and this evening they will join their husbands for dinner and dancing at the LCC.

BRIDES

at candlelight weddings

All-white blossoms decorated the chancel of Bethlehem Lutheran Church at Wahoo, Friday evening, June 18, for the wedding of Miss Patricia Ann Lindquist, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Lindquist of Wahoo, and Roger W. Poppe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Poppe of Cook. The candlelight service was solemnized by the Rev. Wayne Barthel, assisted by the Rev. Delmar Anderson of Bellevue, Wash., uncle of the bride.

Long-skirted frocks of pink satin were worn by the attendants, Miss Gloria Cameron, as the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Mary Ann Vrana and Miss Carolyn Hanke, all of Wahoo. They carried cascades of pink carnations and red roses.

Lawrence Poppe of Grant, served as best man, and seating the guests were Marvin Lindquist, Wahoo; Wayne Parde, Eldon Poppe and Burnell Lindquist, all of Lincoln.

The bride chose white brocaded satin touched with lace for her wedding gown. The fitted bodice was designed with a portrait neckline and long sleeves, and the controlled skirt was draped at the back into a double fold which continued into a train. A queen's crown of pearls held her illusion veil, and she carried red roses interspersed with white carnations and variegated ivy.

Mr. and Mrs. Poppe will reside in Grant. A graduate of the University of Nebraska, the bride will teach at Venango High School.

The candlelight wedding of Miss Connie Jacobsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chancey Jacobsen of Raymond, and David Fryc, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fryc of Garland, took place Friday evening, June 18, at the Raymond Methodist Church. The Rev. Richard Kellogg of Lincoln, read the lines of the double ring service, and the wedding music was played by Mrs. E. J. Thompson, organist. Mrs. Thompson also accompanied Mrs. Ted Mabie, the vocal soloist.

Miss Patricia Jacobsen of Lincoln, as her sister's maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Sharon Jacobsen, Lincoln, also a sister of the bride, and Miss Patricia Fryc, Garland, the bridegroom's sister, wore daytime frocks of blue brocade. They carried white carnations tipped with blue.

Serving as best man was Delbert Hartshorn, Garland, and the ushers were Robert Krieser, Ernest Kovar and Gary Jacobsen, Garland; and Richard Bowby, Lincoln.

The bride chose a gown of traditional white satin. The fitted bodice was fashioned with long sleeves of white lace, and appliques of the lace trimmed the princess skirt which continued into a chapel train. Her silk illusion veil was held by a crown of jeweled illusion petals, and she carried a modern arrangement of red roses.

Mr. Fryc and his bride will make their home in Garland.

FORMER coeds are mid-June brides

The marriage of Miss Jacquelyn Charlene Flick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Flick of Bradshaw, to Gary A. Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Peterson of Funk, was solemnized Friday afternoon, June 18, at the Evangelical Free Church in Lincoln. The Rev. LaReau N. Thorwall read the lines of the service.

Miss Gerry Ann Kreifels of York, as the maid of honor, appeared in a long-skirted frock of French blue lace and crepe. Costumed identically were the bridesmaids, Miss JoAnn Luzio of Homer, and Miss Lana Anderson, Paxton.

Serving his brother as best man was Ronald Peterson of Funk, and the ushers were Russell Hahn, Paxton; Gary Pick, Inman; James Wahl, Bradshaw; Dwayne Madsen, Hampton; and Roger Peterson, Holdrege.

The bride's Empire gown was fashioned of white crepe. Long fitted sleeves accented the sculptured bodice, and the sheath skirt was complemented by a court train extending to chapel length. A cap of organza petals held to the head her train-length veil of illusion.

Mr. and Mrs. Peterson will reside at Ames, Iowa, where the bridegroom is studying for a doctorate at Iowa State University. He is a member of Gamma Sigma Delta and Alpha Zeta honoraries. The bride has attended the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Alpha Xi Delta and Lambda Tau, medical technology honorary.

At a 7:30 o'clock ceremony solemnized Friday evening, June 18, Miss Marietta Smith of Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Smith of Grand Island, became the bride of Burton L. Schernikau, son of Lloyd Schernikau, and the late Mrs. Schernikau. The lines of the service were read by the Rev. Abraham Brenning at Zion Congregational Church of Christ.

Wearing floor-length frocks of orchid-toned crystalettes were the maid of honor, Miss Karen Schernikau, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Judy Schernikau, the bridesmaid; and the bridesmaids, Mrs. Jeff Robbins, Denver; Mrs. Kenneth McClain, Jr., and Mrs. Charles Anderson.

William Schernikau served his brother as best man, and the ushers were Curt Trenhille, Chicago; Dean Faubel, Elgin; Larry Smith, Omaha; Charles Anderson, Kenneth McClain, Jr., Dennis Uhlman and Larry Carlson.

The bride appeared in a sheath gown of white French crepe. The decollete bodice was veiled by a long-sleeved overblouse of Chantilly lace, and the slim lines of the skirt were emphasized by a train panel of crepe extending to cotillion length. Her illusion veil was held by a small crown of pearls and crystal.

The bride is a graduate of Nebraska Wesleyan University, from which Mr. Schernikau, a member of Phi Kappa Tau fraternity, received his degree last month.

The Service Circles Keep Busy

BY SUE DRAKE

Next Wednesday, at 10 o'clock, the Officers' Wives' Club will hold its monthly coffee at the Officers' Club. The members are invited to bring their daughters for the morning "Mother and Daughter" affair.

Featured on the program will be Ginny Duxbury who will entertain the members with several musical selections.

Notice is being given to all officers of Lincoln Air Force Base of the monthly party to be held next Saturday night at the Officers' Club.

The hosts, members of the 345th Bombardment Squadron, have chosen an "Hawaiian Luau" as their theme for the patio pool party.

The party for the 98th Strategic Aerospace Wing will get under way at 7:30 o'clock.

The officers of the 343rd Bombardment Squadron and their wives, were together recently for an informal bridge party.

Concluding the evening with the high score were Capt. and Mrs. Flay Goodwin, while Capt. and Mrs. Frank Jackson made the second high score.

Receiving the consolation prize were Capt. and Mrs. Ron Hagler.

The wives of the 345th Bombardment Squadron held their luncheon recently at the Esquire Club.

Officers chosen for the following year were: chairman, Mrs. John Wiles, and her committee members are Mrs. Charles Gaines, Mrs. Billie Myhand, Mrs. Lionel Marien, Mrs. R. William Klein, Mrs. Howard Nolan, and Mrs. Jack Hover.

Capt. and Mrs. Adam Rech recently returned to LAFB after a visit with friends and relatives in Chicago. While in Illinois, they were the houseguests of Capt. Rech's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ebert, of Barrington.

Capt. and Mrs. T. C. Kuhn recently returned to LAFB after visiting with Capt. Kuhn's mother, Mrs. Thomas C. Kuhn, of Ft. Pierce, Fla.

Maj. and Mrs. Robert Jacobson were recent guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anton Jacobson, of Viborg, S.D., and before returning to LAFB, they toured the Black Hills.

Last week, Capt. and Mrs. Raymond Witt returned to LAFB after visiting with Mrs. Witt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Higgins, of Stillwater, Okla., and with Capt. Witt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Witt, of Galveston, Texas.

And since turn about is fair play, Capt. Witt's parents now are visiting him.

Capt. and Mrs. William McMillan were recent houseguests of Mrs. McMillan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Anderson, of Almont, N.D. They also visited with friends and relatives in New Salem.

Dr. and Mrs. Alan E. Smith are visiting with their son-in-law and daughter, Capt. and Mrs. George Tate. Dr. and Mrs. Smith, of Shrewsbury, Pa., are here to welcome the "new" Miss Kathryn Forrest Tate to the family.

Capt. and Mrs. Dean Smith recently spent a weekend in Omaha. But last week, they had houseguests — Mrs. Thomas Sutton and her niece, Miss Alice Craig. Mrs. Sutton moved to Kansas City last week.

Visiting at LAFB last week was Mrs. Max Springer and her children, all former members of LAFB.

Lt. Col. and Mrs. Raymond H. Palmer Jr. had as their houseguests last week, AIC Wendall Bingman, who is stationed at the Pentagon. Airman Bingman, and flew into Lincoln to attend Miss G'Neil Palmer's graduation from Lincoln High School.

Also guests at Lt. Col. Palmer's quarters were Lt. Col. and Mrs. John Mulkey, (USAF Ret.) of Sioux Falls, S.D., who were here to attend the graduation exercises of their son, Kent, also of Lincoln High School.

Maj. and Mrs. Milton Melland recently returned to LAFB after visiting with friends in Chicago and Detroit. Other points of interest they visited were Niagara Falls, the World's Fair, Washington, D.C., and Memphis.

Mrs. Russell Heller and Mrs. Milton Melland were co-hostesses at the Officers' Club recently when they entertained a group of friends in a farewell courtesy extended to Mrs. Joseph Allen.

Attending the bridge-luncheon were Mrs. Paul Burket, Mrs. Lyle Knight, Mrs. Dave Clark, Mrs. Leroy Kutscher, Mrs. Peter Vuchetich, and Mrs. Edward Stahl.

Concluding the afternoon

ABBY

don't ask him---tell him

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My problem concerns my husband. He and his friends hunt bobcats with their dogs, and in order to train their dogs to follow the scent, they use house cats to practice on. Three months ago they went to the pound and brought back a cat. She was old and mangy, but I didn't like the idea of their letting the dogs kill her. I argued and fumed, but it didn't do me any good. Yesterday they went to the pound again and brought back two of the cutest kittens, only a month old. They plan to keep them until they are full-grown, train the dogs with them, and then let the dogs have them as a reward. Right now these kittens are in our shed.

Abby, I can't believe my husband could feed them and watch them grow and then let the dogs kill them. He's naturally a very kind person — it's his friend who's blood-thirsty. I have a hunch my husband won't admit it, but he really doesn't want to kill domestic animals this way, but he's afraid his friend might say he's "chicken" if he doesn't go through with it. Have you any suggestions on what I might say or do to save those kittens?

Mrs. P.

DEAR MRS. P.: Don't ask your husband, TELL him that if uses those kittens, or any other animal in this manner, you will notify your local S.P.C.A. There is nothing to prevent someone from going to a pound and adopting kittens without disclosing his plans, but animals are NEVER given out for this inhumane purpose. If you can't persuade him, report him!

FORMER coeds are mid-June brides

The marriage of Miss Jacquelyn Charlene Flick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Flick of Bradshaw, to Gary A. Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Peterson of Funk, was solemnized Friday afternoon, June 18, at the Evangelical Free Church in Lincoln. The Rev. LaReau N. Thorwall read the lines of the service.

Miss Gerry Ann Kreifels of York, as the maid of honor, appeared in a long-skirted frock of French blue lace and crepe. Costumed identically were the bridesmaids, Miss JoAnn Luzio of Homer, and Miss Lana Anderson, Paxton.

Serving his brother as best man was Ronald Peterson of Funk, and the ushers were Russell Hahn, Paxton; Gary Pick, Inman; James Wahl, Bradshaw; Dwayne Madsen, Hampton; and Roger Peterson, Holdrege.

The bride's Empire gown was fashioned of white crepe. Long fitted sleeves accented the sculptured bodice, and the sheath skirt was complemented by a court train extending to chapel length. A cap of organza petals held to the head her train-length veil of illusion.

Mr. and Mrs. Peterson will reside at Ames, Iowa, where the bridegroom is studying for a doctorate at Iowa State University. He is a member of Gamma Sigma Delta and Alpha Zeta honoraries. The bride has attended the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Alpha Xi Delta and Lambda Tau, medical technology honorary.

At a 7:30 o'clock ceremony solemnized Friday evening, June 18, Miss Marietta Smith of Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Smith of Grand Island, became the bride of Burton L. Schernikau, son of Lloyd Schernikau, and the late Mrs. Schernikau. The lines of the service were read by the Rev. Abraham Brenning at Zion Congregational Church of Christ.

Wearing floor-length frocks of orchid-toned crystalette were the maid of honor, Miss Karen Schernikau, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Judy Schernikau, the bridesmaid; and the bridesmaids, Mrs. Jeff Robbins, Denver; Mrs. Kenneth McClain, Jr., and Mrs. Charles Anderson.

William Schernikau served his brother as best man, and the ushers were Curt Trenhille, Chicago; Dean Faubel, Elgin; Larry Smith, Omaha; Charles Anderson, Kenneth McClain, Jr., Dennis Uhlman and Larry Carlson.

The bride appeared in a sheath gown of white French crepe. The decollete bodice was veiled by a long-sleeved overblouse of Chantilly lace, and the slim lines of the skirt were emphasized by a train panel of crepe extending to cotillion length. Her illusion veil was held by a small crown of pearls and crystal.

The bride is a graduate of Nebraska Wesleyan University, from which Mr. Schernikau, a member of Phi Kappa Tau fraternity, received his degree last month.

NEWS

Suitcases are being packed and unpacked this morning as five Lincoln families send their high school daughters to an education seminar in New York City. Another household welcomes home a member who has spent the school year at Harvard University.

PRAIRIE HEIGHTS

From Prairie Heights comes news of traveling plans.

Honored guests on Wednesday evening were five seniors at Southeast High School who will leave Lincoln Sunday to attend a three-week Future Teachers elementary education seminar in New York City.

Selected by their faculty advisors for

of guests, travelers in suburbia

the trip were Ginny Hanson, Pam Carrier, Barbara Hamilton, Linda Jeffrey and Cindy Null.

The farewell dinner was held at the home of Cindy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Null.

While in New York City, the group will be housed in dormitories at Mills College of Education and although their official schedule will be filled with visits to Settlement houses and various schools in the city, the travelers also have plans for a trip to the World's Fair.

EASTMONT

Steven Coy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Coy, recently returned home from Harvard where he is a science major. While at Harvard, Steven earned recognition on the honor roll. Other Coy news includes the fact that Ginny will spend the summer in Europe on a University of Nebraska sponsored tour.

COTNER TERRACE

Sunday travelers to Syracuse were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ebert. Mr. and Mrs. Ebert motored to Syracuse to spend the day with Mr. Ebert's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Goad and with Mr. Ebert's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Max Ebert. The Syracuse foursome prepared a Sunday night dinner for the visitors from Lincoln.

Arriving in Lincoln on Thursday were Mrs. Bill Young and son Billy. The two-some motored to the city from Anadarko, Okla., for a visit with their cousins Mr. and Mrs. Lee Kruse and their family. After a short visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kruse, the guests were to accompany Mrs. Kruse and her son, Mark, to Bassett where the first stop was at the home of Mrs. Kruse and Mrs. Young's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lanz. The traveling foursome will be guests of the Bassett couple for a predicted three weeks. But, we mentioned that the stop at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lanz was the first stop and for the second stop we need to mention only the two feminine travelers, Mrs. Kruse and Mrs. Young scarcely had time to unpack, Friday, because Friday evening was the night that Bassett High School held its Alum banquet and the two attended the get-together.

EASTBOROUGH

Suburban residents, this time from Eastborough, who have left the area and moved to another section of the city are Mr. and Mrs. Roland L. Reed who now reside at 1415 So. 26th St. Their former address was 338 Prestwick Road.

HOLLYWOOD HEIGHTS

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph A. Damkroger and their children, Maurice, 13 years old; Carol, 10, and Steve, 5, went to DeWitt recently to have dinner with Mr. Damkroger's mother Mrs. Albert Damkroger.

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Lyons stayed at home last weekend to entertain houseguests from Colorado Springs, Colo. They were Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Benson, and their children, Barbara and Pamela.

widows have fun

We don't know whether or not it's true that 'blondes have more fun,' but we're quite certain that the wives of the Swingfest participants aren't exactly wallflowers, regardless of the color of their hair.

Today the merry Swingfest widows were together for a luncheon at the Lincoln Country Club, and judging from the picture we're guessing they're much more relaxed than their golfing husbands.

On Thursday evening the Swingfest wives were together for a no hostess dinner at the Inter Com Club, and this

at candlelight weddings

All-white blossoms decorated the chancel of Bethlehem Lutheran Church at Wahoo, Friday evening, June 18, for the wedding of Miss Patricia Ann Lindquist, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Lindquist of Wahoo, and Roger W. Poppe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Poppe of Cook. The candlelight service was solemnized by the Rev. Wayne Barthel, assisted by the Rev. Delmar Anderson of Bellevue, Wash., uncle of the bride.

Long-skirted frocks of pink satin were worn by the attendants, Miss Gloria Cameron, as the maid of honor; and the bridesmaids, Miss Mary Ann Vrana and Miss Carolyn Hanke, all of Wahoo. They carried cascades of pink carnations and red roses.

Lawrence Poppe of Grant, served as best man, and seating the guests were Marvin Lindquist, Wahoo; Wayne Parde, Eldon Poppe and Burnell Lindquist, all of Lincoln.

The bride chose white brocaded satin touched with lace for her wedding gown. The fitted bodice was designed with a portrait neckline and long sleeves, and the controlled skirt was draped at the back into a double fold which continued into a train. A queen's crown of pearls held her illusion veil, and she carried red roses interspersed with white carnations and variegated ivy.

Mr. and Mrs. Poppe will reside in Grant. A graduate of the University of Nebraska, the bride will teach at Venango High School.

The candlelight wedding of Miss Connie Jacobsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chancey Jacobsen of Raymond, and David Fryc, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fryc of Garland, took place Friday evening, June 18, at the Raymond Methodist Church. The Rev. Richard Kellogg of Lincoln, read the lines of the double ring service, and the wedding music was played by Mrs. E. J. Thompson, organist. Mrs. Thompson also accompanied Mrs. Ted Mabie, the vocal soloist.

Miss Patricia Jacobsen of Lincoln, as her sister's maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Sharon Jacobsen, Lincoln, also a sister of the bride, and Miss Patricia Fryc, Garland, the bridegroom's sister, wore daytime frocks of blue brocade. They carried white carnations tipped with blue.

Serving as best man was Delbert Hartshorn, Garland, and the ushers were Robert Krieser, Ernest Kovar and Gary Jacobsen, Garland; and Richard Bowlby, Lincoln.

The bride chose a gown of traditional white satin. The fitted bodice was fashioned with long sleeves of white lace, and appliques of the lace trimmed the princess skirt which continued into a chapel train. Her silk illusion veil was held by a crown of jeweled illusion petals, and she carried a modern arrangement of red roses.

Mr. Fryc and his bride will make their home in Garland.

The Service Circles Keep Busy

BY SUE DRAKE

Next Wednesday, at 10 o'clock, the Officers' Wives' Club will hold its monthly coffee at the Officers' Club. The members are invited to bring their daughters for the morning "Mother and Daughter" affair.

Featured on the program will be Ginny Duxbury who will entertain the members with several musical selections.

Notice is being given to all officers of Lincoln Air Force Base of the monthly party to be held next Saturday night at the Officers' Club.

The hosts, members of the 345th Bombardment Squadron, have chosen an "Hawaiian Luau" as their theme for the patio pool party.

The party for the 98th Strategic Aerospace Wing will get under way at 7:30 o'clock.

The officers of the 343rd Bombardment Squadron and their wives, were together recently for an informal bridge party.

Concluding the evening with the high score were Capt. and Mrs. Flay Goodwin, while Capt. and Mrs. Frank Jackson made the second high score.

Receiving the consolation prize were Capt. and Mrs. Ron Hagler.

The wives of the 345th Bombardment Squadron held their luncheon recently at the Esquire Club.

Officers chosen for the following year were: chairman, Mrs. John Wiles, and her committee members are Mrs. Charles Gaines, Mrs. Billie Myhand, Mrs. Lionel Marien, Mrs. R. William Klein, Mrs. Howard Nolan, and Mrs. Jack Hover.

Capt. and Mrs. Adam Rech recently returned to LAFB after a visit with friends and relatives in Chicago. While in Illinois, they were the houseguests of Capt. Rech's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ebert, of Barrington.

Capt. and Mrs. T. C. Kuhn recently returned to LAFB after visiting with Capt. Kuhn's mother, Mrs. Thomas C. Kuhn, of Ft. Pierce, Fla.

Maj. and Mrs. Robert Jacobson were recent guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anton Jacobson, of Viborg, S.D., and before returning to LAFB, they toured the Black Hills.

Last week, Capt. and Mrs. Raymond Witt returned to LAFB after visiting with Mrs. Witt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Higgins, of Stillwater, Okla., and with Capt. Witt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Witt, of Galveston, Texas.

And since turn about is fair play, Capt. Witt's parents now are visiting him.

Capt. and Mrs. William McMillan were recent houseguests of Mrs. McMillan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Anderson, of Altmont, N.D. They also visited with friends and relatives in New Salem.

Dr. and Mrs. Alan E. Smith are visiting with their son-in-law and daughter, Capt. and Mrs. George Tate. Dr. and Mrs. Smith, of Shrewsbury, Pa., are here to welcome the "new" Miss Kathryn Forrest Tate to the family.

Capt. and Mrs. Dean Smith recently spent a weekend in Omaha. But last week, they had houseguests — Mrs. Thomas Sutton and her niece, Miss Alice Craig. Mrs. Sutton moved to Kansas City last week.

Visiting at LAFB last week was Mrs. Max Springer and her children, all former members of LAFB.

Lt. Col. and Mrs. Raymond H. Palmer Jr. had as their houseguests last week, AIC Wendall Bingham, who is stationed at the Pentagon. Airman Bingham, and flew into Lincoln to attend Miss G'Neil Palmer's graduation from Lincoln High School.

Also guests at Lt. Col. Palmer's quarters were Lt. Col. and Mrs. John Mulkey, (USAF Ret.) of Sioux Falls, S.D., who were here to attend the graduation exercises of their son, Kent, also of Lincoln High School.

Maj. and Mrs. Milton Meland recently returned to LAFB after visiting with friends in Chicago and Detroit. Other points of interest they visited were Niagara Falls, the World's Fair, Washington, D.C., and Memphis.

Mrs. Russell Heller and Mrs. Milton Meland were co-hostesses at the Officers' Club recently when they entertained a group of friends in a farewell courtesy extended to Mrs. Joseph Allen.

Attending the bridge-luncheon were Mrs. Paul Burkett, Mrs. Lyle Knight, Mrs. Dave Clark, Mrs. Leroy Kutscher, Mrs. Peter Vuchetich, and Mrs. Edward Stahl.

Concluding the afternoon

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My problem concerns my husband. He and his friends hunt bobcats with their dogs, and in order to train their dogs to follow the scent, they use house cats to practice on. Three months ago they went to the pound and brought back a cat. She was old and mangy, but I didn't like the idea of their letting the dogs kill her. I argued and fumed, but it didn't do me any good. Yesterday they went to the pound again and brought back two of the cutest kittens, only a month old. They plan to keep them until they are full-grown, train the dogs with them, and then let the dogs have them as a reward. Right now these kittens are in our shed.

Abby, I can't believe my husband could feed them and watch them grow and then let the dogs kill them. He's naturally a very kind person — it's his friend who's bloodthirsty. Skydiving Action To Begin Today

By TOM HENDERSON
Star Sports Writer

A six, and possibly seven-state area, will be represented today and Sunday, when the Lincoln Sport Parachute Club hosts the Midwest Parachute Association Quarterly Skydiving meet, 2½ miles east of Walton.

Today's action will begin at noon and continue until 5 p.m., while the jumpers will compete from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday.

Parachute clubs from Nebraska, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, and Colorado will be present, as well as a few jumpers from South Dakota and possibly one from Oklahoma.

According to Jack Hogan, public relations agent for the 15-member Lincoln club, which has been in existence since 1957, the competition will be based on three events—individual accuracy, team accuracy, and style.

The individual accuracy competition consists of jumping from the plane at an altitude of 3,000 feet, opening the parachute one-to-five seconds later, and landing as close to a pre-selected target as is possible. The jump is made twice, and the score is determined from the average distance from the bulls' eye.

The team event is a little more complicated. Two or three jump at the same time, aiming for the same target. Again two jumps are made, averaging the distance away on each leap, as well as on each jumper. The jump is made from 5,600 feet with a 20-second delay.

The style event "is by far the hardest." Many writers have described it thusly: "Points are given for time and form, as to pre-designated maneuvers on a jump."

The diver leaves the plane at an altitude of 7,500 feet. He freefalls for about 30 seconds before opening his chute, and then is timed as he rotates his body 360 degrees first one direction and then the other, and then does a back somersault.

The diver leaves the plane at maneuvers. A stop-watch records the time it took to complete the exercise, and the event is scored accordingly.

"There'll be a guy (Stanley Seales of Omaha) down here that was timed last week Kansas City in 9½ seconds," Hogan notes. Most times are considerably slower.

Hogan explains that "If you shoot over 450 degrees on a planned 360 degree turn, you're zapped, you lose, you just automatically go home."

The meet is sanctioned by the Parachute Club of America, and there is no admission charge.

IN THE ACT . . . Staff Photographer Bob Gorham catches skydiver Jack Hogan in the various stages of dive.

PLAYER SNARES U.S. OPEN LEAD

...Astleford, Palmer Fail To Make Cut

St. Louis (AP)—Gary Player, the little South African in black, swept into the lead with even par 70-70-140 Friday and escaped an avalanche of bogeys that took a toll of defending champion Ken Venturi and the great Arnold Palmer in the second round of the U.S. Open Golf Tournament.

Venturi, gamely swinging clubs with numbered fingers drained of blood, skied to a 79 for 160 and Palmer, no longer able to trigger one of his miracle charges, scrambled to a second straight 76 for 152, two over the 150 cutoff point.

Neither survived the traditional cut reducing the field from its original 150 to the low 50 and ties for the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday.

"I'm nailing my bag to the wall—I won't swing another club until I am ready," said Venturi, stricken with a painful circulatory ailment in his right hand.

"The wheels just came off—I didn't play well at all," commented the disappointed Palmer, who had gone 51 tournaments without missing the cut.

The beefy, 210-pound Jack Nicklaus, in danger of elimination after an opening 78, rallied with a 72 for 150.

"I've won from farther back than this," said the 25-year-old Golden Bear from Columbus, Ohio. "I can still win."

If he does he'll have to climb over some pretty strong backs.

These included those of rugged Kel Nagle, 44-year-old Australian, and Mason Rudolph, the implacable Tennessee who can't see the tee without thick spectacles. They were tied for second at 141, one stroke back, after Nagle shot a 73 and Rudolph a 72.

Nagle had been the first-round leader with a 68, followed by amateur Deane Beman of Bethesda, Md., and Rudolph.

Beman, seeking to become the first amateur winner of this championship since Johnny Goodman won in 1933, uncorked a steady 73 for 142 and fourth place.

He didn't look a bit like a man ready to crack in the company of the hardened pros. "An amateur can win it," the cocky, crew-cut insurance executive said. "It might as well be me."

The exhausting, 7,191-yard Bellerive Country Club course, the longest in this tournament's history, was an ogre for golf's finest, repelling every attack on its 35-35-70 par except one.

Frank Beard of Louisville, a tour regular, fired a 69, only sub-par round of likes to lead is a fibber. The pressure is tremendous."

His steady round consisted of one birdie—a 10-foot putt at the ninth—and one bogey—at the first where he hooked into a fairway trap. The rest were pars.

He concentrated on keeping the ball in play rather than trying to overpower the massive layout, an apparent failing of the two muscle men, Palmer and Nicklaus.

"I didn't play as well as Thursday but I was satisfied," Player said. "I was disappointed on two putts which didn't fall—a six-footer at the 11th and a five-footer at the 17th. I hit three perfect shots at the 17th."

Rudolph also didn't attempt to strangle the course. He used fairway woods and irons off some greens and, in the tradition of Ben Hogan, played management golf.

"This is a position golf course," he said, after shooting 16 pars and two bogeys. He bunkered his approach shots for his bogeys at the fourth and eighth.

Beman went nine holes in steady pars before running into a patch of bogeys on the back nine. He bunkered his approach shot on the 10th, missed a 3½ foot putt at the 14th and then drove into a ravine on the 15th.

Not a long hitter, Beman used six woods in the fairway.

Nagle's age began to show in his second round. After an even par front nine, he bogeyed the 10th, 13th and 15th, largely through bad chipping.

"I'm still within shooting distance," said the Aussie, who beat out Palmer for the British Open championship at St. Andrews in 1960.

Palmer, who failed to get a birdie in two days, declined to appear for the routine interview.

"They don't want to talk to me," he said. "Tell them, 'Merry Christmas!'"

"It gets a little depressing when you don't make a birdie. I thought I'd certainly get one somewhere."

Bob Astleford, Nebraska state amateur champion from Omaha, barely missed the cutoff with a 77 Friday for a 152 total.

Six Teams Deadlocked For Swingfest Honors

... ALL FINISH AT 61

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Six teams tied for the first round lead Friday in the Lincoln Country Club Swingfest and another two teams were only one stroke off the pace in the most closely bunched field in the 12 years of the annual event at LCC.

The leaders carded 11-under-par 61s in the best-ball, handicap event. The final 18 holes will be played today.

Bill Murrell of the Lincoln

Country Club and guest Dick Herman, who teamed to win the top prize two years ago, were among the six leading teams after Friday's opening 18 holes.

John Hoppe of LCC, who won a year ago with Jack Fate of Kansas City, Mo., as his guest, was in the thick of the leaders Friday, but with a new partner. Hoppe is playing this year with Warner Rhoads of Cleveland as his guest. They recorded a 61.

Others tied for the lead are Bill Kimball of LCC and guest Harry Galloway of Bloomington, Ill., Bob Lau of LCC and guest Dick Kuhl of Ashland, Ted Sick of LCC and partner Dick Braun of Denver, and Dick Joyce of LCC playing with Omaha University athletic director Virgil Yelkin.

The teams of Tom and Bob Ludick and Bob Howey with Dudley Green were only one stroke back of the leaders.

The first round leading scores of 61, however, are far off the pace set by LCC's Lee Chapin and guest Rod Smith in winning the inaugural Swingfest in 1954 with a record-setting 115 for the 36 holes.

The Nebraska athletic department contingent of athletic director Tippy Dye, football coach Bob Devaney and basketball coach Joe Cipriano were far behind the leaders.

Dye, playing with Les Brainard of Seattle, was six strokes back at 67. Devaney and Kansas State football coach Doug Weaver had 68, and Cipriano with former Washington All-American Bob Houbregs as a partner was at 69.

Sittler, Kramer Arrive For Game

Buffalo, N.Y.—Former Nebraska center Lyle Sittler and tackle Larry Kramer were among 60 football players reporting here Friday to prepare for the All-America Bowl at War Memorial Stadium June 26.

Sittler and Kramer will both be members of the West squad in the fifth annual game.

Notre Dame's Ara Parseghian head the East coaching staff, assisted by Bump Elliott of Michigan and Bear Bryant of Alabama. Frank Broyles of Arkansas is in charge of the West with Len Casanova of Oregon and John McKay of Southern California as aides.

Beckman led the first inning attack with a bases loaded triple and two singles respectively. Kip Deitmeyer added a two run triple in the third.

Steve Mitchell went the distance for Roberts, scattering three hits, walking three and striking out five.

Contrary to Thursday night's play, Roberts committed only one error, a muffed ground ball by first baseman Dworak.

Turkel To Join Husker Squad
Omaha (UPI)—Speedy Marshall Turkel, who helped lead his Central High School to the State High School Track championship this spring, has announced he will attend the University of Nebraska.

Turkel has a .098 clocking in the 100 yard dash and .217 in the 220, the latter mark coming in the state meet.

He won both events in Class A competition at Lincoln.

Olympic Competitors Married In England
Huddersfield, England (AP)—Anita Lonsborough and Hugh Porter, who met for the first time last year on their way to compete in the Tokyo Olympics, were married at Huddersfield parish church Thursday.

Anita is the golden girl of British swimming. She won the Olympic 200-meter breaststroke gold medal in the 1960 Olympics and also competed at Tokyo. Porter competed in the cycling events at Tokyo.

Mets Sign Jack Stroud
New York (AP)—Jack Stroud, left-handed pitcher from the University of Missouri, Friday signed with the New York Mets and will report to their Marion, Va. farm club in the Appalachian Rookie League.

Marriage Buried On Texas Farm

Lufkin, Tex. (AP)—Marriage famous Texas thoroughbred of the 1940's was buried this week on a 76-acre farm that his owner insisted was the horse's property.

"He paid for the farm many times over when he was racing," owner Carl L. Dupuy said.

Marriage, who died at the age of 29, was the maternal grandson of the great Man O' War and was sired at the Blue Ridge Stud Farm of the late Adm. Gary T. Grayson at Upperville, Va.

Eagles Contract Two Pro Players
Philadelphia (AP)—The Philadelphia Eagles signed fullback Tom Woodshick and flanker back Bill Red Mack to 1965 football contracts Friday.

Mack played three seasons with the Pittsburgh Steelers before being traded to the Eagles last year. He was out half the season with a shoulder injury.

Woodshick is starting his third season with the Eagles.

Baby-Talkers Start School With Handicap

By DR. LESLIE J. NASON

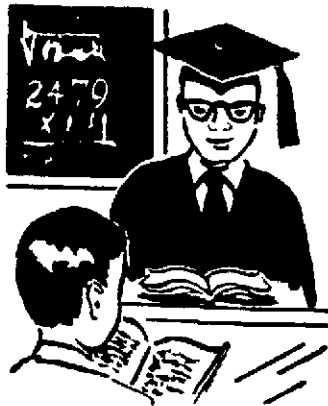

The baby-talker starts with a handicap in kindergarten. Summer, before school starts, is a chance for a last ditch effort to remedy speech problems and get your child off with a head start.

Not just for kindergarten alone. A large percentage of speech problems in all children are merely carry-overs of "cute" lisps and other baby-talk habits. Sometimes without thinking parents and other adults encourage them.

There is a temptation to talk to a child in his own language. Unfortunately, speech patterns which may be charming in a small child lose their charm and become problems as the child grows older.

Serious Problems
While serious problems need the attention of experts, most are matters of articulation and many can be solved by the child with a little help from his parents.

A child learns to speak by hearing himself and hearing others. Imitate him, as well as by imitating others. If he makes a funny error and adults repeat it, the child has a good chance of learning the error as correct.

Soon the sounds are lost in the words and the child does not even hear his own errors. Parents can help their children substitute correct speech for baby talk if they help them hear the sounds they are making and identify the errors. When a child hears and recognizes the errors he makes it becomes easier for him to re-learn the correct sounds.

Helping a child hear an error the first time may require patient repeated effort. Once the correct sound is heard and understood by the child much repetition will be required to make the new sound seem comfortable and correct so that he produces it automatically.

Machine Helpful
A tape recorder or portable dictating machine may make it possible for a child to listen to his own speech and recognize the difference between correct and incorrect enunciation, but no equipment is necessary.

Have the child memorize a poem or a few sentences containing the questionable word. He should repeat the passage until the content is completely memorized and then begin to pay full attention to how he says the words. By this conscious effort he can learn to use the correct sounds.

These are problems that call for the cooperation of the whole family. Furthermore, these problems are better solved in the family where the child is less embarrassed by his errors. He can get individual attention in what is always a time-consuming endeavor.

Remember, you have learned to understand what your child is saying. In the classroom no one, including the teacher, may completely understand him and this can be frustrating to all concerned.

Hight Court Orders New Trial Of Land Condemnation Suit

The State Supreme Court Friday ordered a new Lincoln County District Court trial of a land condemnation suit involving the First Baptist Church of Maxwell, Neb.

The State Department of Roads appealed from the $10,950 judgment awarded the church, challenging the sufficiency of foundation and competency of two of the church's witnesses, Frank Christensen and Loren Hall, Maxwell farmers.

The state used eminent domain powers to obtain part of the church's parking lot so it could straighten out a segment of state highway in Maxwell. The tract taken was 14-hundredths of an acre. The jury found the value of the strip taken to be $200, and set the difference in value of the property before and after taking at $10,750.

Christensen and Hall were long-time members of the church but the Supreme Court said this did not automatically establish their competence to testify as to value of the property.

An officer of a corporation is not an owner of property belonging to the corporation when applied to an individual owner, the court said.

Because the award to the church was larger than the damages estimated by other expert witnesses, it appears evident that the testimony of Christensen and Hall affected the jury verdict, the Supreme Court said in reversing the case and remanding it for new trial.

In another ruling Friday the court reversed and remanded for new trial a Douglas County condemnation suit appealed by Harry B. and Julia J. Bickels, whose neighborhood grocery store at 30th and "A" St. was given up by eminent domain.

The Supreme Court held that the district court improperly received evidence and testimony related to a member of the Board of Appraisers who was not called to appear at the district court hearing.

This was one of several trial errors which the Bickels contended were made. The Supreme Court held that the district court acted correctly in refusing to consider proof and testimony of a member of the business changes in condemnation laws as made by the Legislature in 1963 did not change the rule in such a way as to permit recovery for loss of profits, the court said.

Dear Hortense!

Actually, we don't really know anyone named Hortense, but we did want someone to read this!

You see, we had so many varied reactions to our "Color Him Green" ads that we thought it best to dispel any wrong impressions. For example, we were not being tongue-in-cheek; our Travel Experts do wear green jackets, and wear them proudly! --and they do know where to find things like "deep fried ice cream" because they've been there and enjoyed it. --and they do know that the famous Banana D's at Mountain Top in St. Thomas are good, but they wouldn't be near so good if it weren't for the spectacularly vordrous view.

--and they do know how to get through Customs quickly and without fuss; oh sure, you can pooh-pooh these "little things" as being unimportant, but you'd be surprised how much better you feel in a fresh shirt that you carried in your briefcase and slipped into, mid-day on a long trip. Who thinks of a briefcase? We do.

Oh Hortense! Hortense! Please believe us when we say that these little "extras" (like to-your-door ticket delivery) are the things that make pleasant adventure out of travel--and the next time you take a trip, won't you please call the green-jacketed man at 435-3232 and let him help you? Remember, Hortense, whether it's business or pleasure, Dallas or Delhi, Grand Island or the Cape of Good Hope -- try the green-jacketed man for all the dope.

Cordially yours,
VIA VAN BLOOM TOUR & TRAVEL SERVICE
1311 "M" Street
Lincoln, Nebraska

P.S. Why is this letter all wack-askew on the page? We suspect it was because that nice man at the newspaper wanted to sell us four columns instead of three.

P.P.S. The phone company likes us, too--now, ALL of our phones are green! (That GREEN number is 435-3232.)

Dear Hortense!

Actually, we don't really know anyone named Hortense, but we did want someone to read this!

You see, we had so many varied reactions to our "Color Him Green" ads that we thought it best to dispel any wrong impressions. For example, we were not being tongue-in-cheek; our Travel Experts do wear green jackets, and wear

Stock Mart Butcher Hog Prices Rise

Omaha (U)—Butcher hogs ranged steady to 25c higher at Omaha Friday.

Fed steers and heifers were as much as 50 cents up. There were not enough sheep offered to state prices.

The decline was on the lightest volume in three weeks—4.32 million shares compared with 5.22 million Thursday.

The pace of trading has been slipping every day since Tuesday when the market staged its dramatic reversal. As the volume of trading subsided, the market's recovery was checked.

The market reached its peak in the first hour then began to back away from the high it turned back, then it went a little lower.

As the Red Cross said it would send volunteers to Viet Nam, the stock market was as prices were softening.

The decline was on the lightest volume in three weeks—4.32 million shares compared with 5.22 million Thursday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell 1.7 to 221.4 with industrials off 1.8 to 220.3.

For the sixth straight session, American Photocopy was the most active stock. It lost 1/4 to 26.00 on 200,000 shares.

Prices moved irregularly lower on the American Stock Exchange. Volume was 1.25 million shares compared with 1.6 million Thursday.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. Treasury bonds were mostly unchanged.

FEEDER CATTLE PRICES UNEVEN

Omaha, Neb. (UP)—Price trends on feeder cattle this week were again uneven, according to a report Friday from the National Livestock Feeders Association.

The trade showed the effects of a break in the fed market last week and the forepart of this week — word evidently reached those buying feeders that the fed market had stopped its upward climb of seven weeks duration.

E. L. Hinman Retired NU Teacher, Dies

Dr. Edgar L. Hinman, 92, of 2935 S. 35th, a retired University of Nebraska philosophy professor, died Friday.

A past president of the Midwest Division, American Philosophical Assn., Dr. Hinman came to NU in 1896 after teaching at a year at the University of California in Berkeley.

In 1928 he became chairman of the philosophy department and retired as professor emeritus in 1943.

Born in Chicago County, N.Y., he received his doctor's degree from Cornell University in 1895.

The author of many philosophical articles, he was also a member of the American Interprofessional Institute and an honorary member of its Lincoln Chapter, a member of the American Assn. of University Professors, First Plymouth Congregational church, and a past president of the Lincoln Chess club.

Survivors include his daughter, Miss Eleanor of Lawrence, Kan.; sister, Mrs. Edna Handland of Walton, N.Y.; and nieces and nephews.

Services will be 10:30 a.m. Monday at Wadlow's Chapel, 1225 L, with the Rev. J. Ford Forsyth officiating.

New Lobbyist List Released

The latest list of registered lobbyists released by the secretary of state's office Friday shows 175 lobbyists registered.

These lobbyists represent 241 firms, organizations and individuals.

Sixty-six of the lobbyists did not file May expense statements, according to the report.

It also listed 73 employers of lobbyists that had not filed May expense statements.

Charitable Contributions Bill Fails By 1 Vote

A bill authorizing public corporations or political subdivisions engaged in business in a proprietary capacity to make charitable contributions failed to pass by a single vote on its final reading test in the Nebraska Legislature Friday.

The final vote on the bill, LB317, sponsored by Lincoln Sen. Fern Orme and Omaha Sen. Pat Moulton, was 24-17, but 25 affirmative votes were required.

The measure, with the emergency clause attached, generated a 28-15 favorable tally on its first final reading vote, with 33 affirmative votes needed. With the emergency clause stricken, the bill still fell one vote short of passage.

The Legislature passed the bill with the following votes:

1823—Procedural that schools or colleges of osteopathy which fail to accept a written report and pass upon for reinspection after one year (Carpenter) (44-0).

1824—Authorizing appeals from the tax court's assessment of property (Revenue Committee) (E) (44-0).

1825—Authorizing appeals from the tax court's assessment of property (Revenue Committee) (E) (44-0).

1826—Increasing by $2 per week the schedule of Workman's Compensation benefits (Bauer) (45-0).

1827—Substituting a voters' constitutional amendment providing that costs of administering state school lands shall be deducted from income before the income is distributed to schools (Adams, Whitney, Fleming) (39-1).

1828—Providing that public buildings constructed with government funds shall contain features and facilities making them accessible to and usable by physically handicapped (Proud, Bauer, Hasebrook, Rasmussen, Pedersen) (44-0).

1829—Permitting city councils of first class cities to contract for general improvements in amounts up to $5,000 without obtaining advance engineering estimates, but placing the limit on purchases without advertising at $2,000 (Klar, Hasebrook) (44-0).

Sprucing Up Of Capital Is Proposed

A $100,000 cleaning, water-proofing and repairing of the Nebraska Capitol Building exterior was proposed Friday in a resolution introduced in the Legislature by Sen. Henry F. Pedersen Jr. of Omaha.

Because it involves an appropriation, Resolution 62 will be given a hearing before a standing committee.

North Platte Rest North Dedication

At least a dozen state senators indicated Friday they plan to accept an invitation to attend the dedication of Scout's Rest Ranch at North Platte June 24.

Sen. Cecil Craft of North Platte said the group would leave Lincoln next Wednesday afternoon, and return following the program the next day.

Craft asked for and received a voting board indication of how many senators plan to accept the invitation.

Woman Claims She Was Raped

A Lincoln woman, 29, told Lincoln police she was forced to disrobe and was raped at knife-point in her apartment in the vicinity of 11th and E, early Friday morning.

Police said a 23-year-old Lincoln man is being held in connection with the incident, pending arraignment.

Five Recreation Spots Now Are In 'If' Stage

... Local Interests Must Assume 50% Of Costs

Omaha (AP) — The possibility of five more recreation spots on the order of the De Soto Bend area just above Omaha plus another 30 river recreation access points between Sioux City and the mouth of the Missouri is in the "if" stage.

If Congress provides sufficient funds for the Corps of Engineers channel improvement and bank stabilization projects during the next fiscal year, and if local interests are willing to assume their 50% share of the costs, these and more are possible. There could be as many as 65 of these river access points, according to studies by the engineers.

Too Early To Predict State Flood Extent

... Say Experts

North Platte (AP) — An estimate of the impact of Colorado flood waters on the North Platte area is impossible at this time, Fred Hervert, hydraulic engineer for the Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigation District, reported Friday after an inspection trip into Colorado.

The first of the flood water is expected to reach North Platte Tuesday or Wednesday, and unless its arrival coincides with heavy rains it may pass by without causing exceptional damage. The biggest volume is more than a week away, he said.

Hervert, Mayor Ken Huebner, City Engineer Jack Carlson and city-county civil defense director George Voorhes met Friday to plan steps for averting water damage in the event a flood crest off the South Platte river hits the community.

They said there is no need for sandbagging at present and plenty of warning will be given if it appears the water will reach North Platte in a dangerous volume.

Hervert said the flow on the South Platte in Colorado is about 20,000 cubic feet per second, but he estimated that by the time it arrives in this area it would be about half that amount, bringing a rise of about four feet.

The weather bureau said the South Platte water in this area will probably double by Saturday morning, bringing a rise of about four feet. This is not considered a dangerous volume of water, the weather bureau said.

Hervert said he expected more definite reports on water prospects would be available Saturday.

tion projects during the next fiscal year, and if local interests are willing to assume their 50% share of the costs, these and more are possible. There could be as many as 65 of these river access points, according to studies by the engineers.

Oxbow Cutoffs
Channel straightening on the Missouri has left five more oxbow cutoffs above Omaha which could be turned into lakes for recreation purposes, an engineer said. The engineers would provide the necessary levees and drainage systems, but the local interests would have to provide the land and the access roads and then maintain the recreation spots after they are built.

Local agreements have been obtained on one of the five potential riverside recreation spots—located at the Tieville-Blackbird Decatur Bend area above Decatur, Neb.

Other potential sites for the oxbow lake recreation spots in order of their priority, but still lacking local sponsorship are:

- Omadi Bend in the Dakota City-Sergeant Bluff, Iowa, area.
- Snyder Lake near Salix, Iowa.
- Glovers Point on the Nebraska side of the river near Salix.
- Winnebago Bend on the Nebraska and Iowa side of the river near Walthill, Neb.

The access points, which basically would provide a boat ramp and a little cleared space so water sportsmen could have more ready access to the Missouri, would involve about 20 acres each, the same amount of area generally planned for the oxbow lakes area.

It would be necessary, the engineers said, for local interest it might be possible for operation for these sites.

Actually, the survey showed about 30 prime possibilities, but if there were enough interest it might be possible for as many as 65 to be constructed.

Recreation sites of this type below Kansas City will have to be approved by 1968, the completion date for the 9-foot channel on the Missouri River in that area.

Two-Day Meeting Of Rehabilitation Association Ends

Fremont (AP)—About 40 persons attended the spring conference of the Nebraska Rehabilitation Association which met here Thursday and Friday.

Conference theme was "Automation and Manpower Developments."

Dr. Don McKenzie, director of the manpower training program in the Nebraska State Department of Education, spoke at the morning session on manpower training in Nebraska.

This was followed by a panel discussion on manpower training and vocational rehabilitation conducted by Kenneth E. Shields, consultant on the manpower training program of State Department of Education.

Sigrid Halldorson of Kansas City, regional representative of the U.S. Department of Labor, spoke at the opening of the afternoon session. Panel discussions on educational counseling, training opportunities in various parts of the state, and the role of the state employment service in manpower training followed.

Gov. Frank Morrison spoke at a Thursday evening banquet.

Mrs. Holstein On Convention Panel

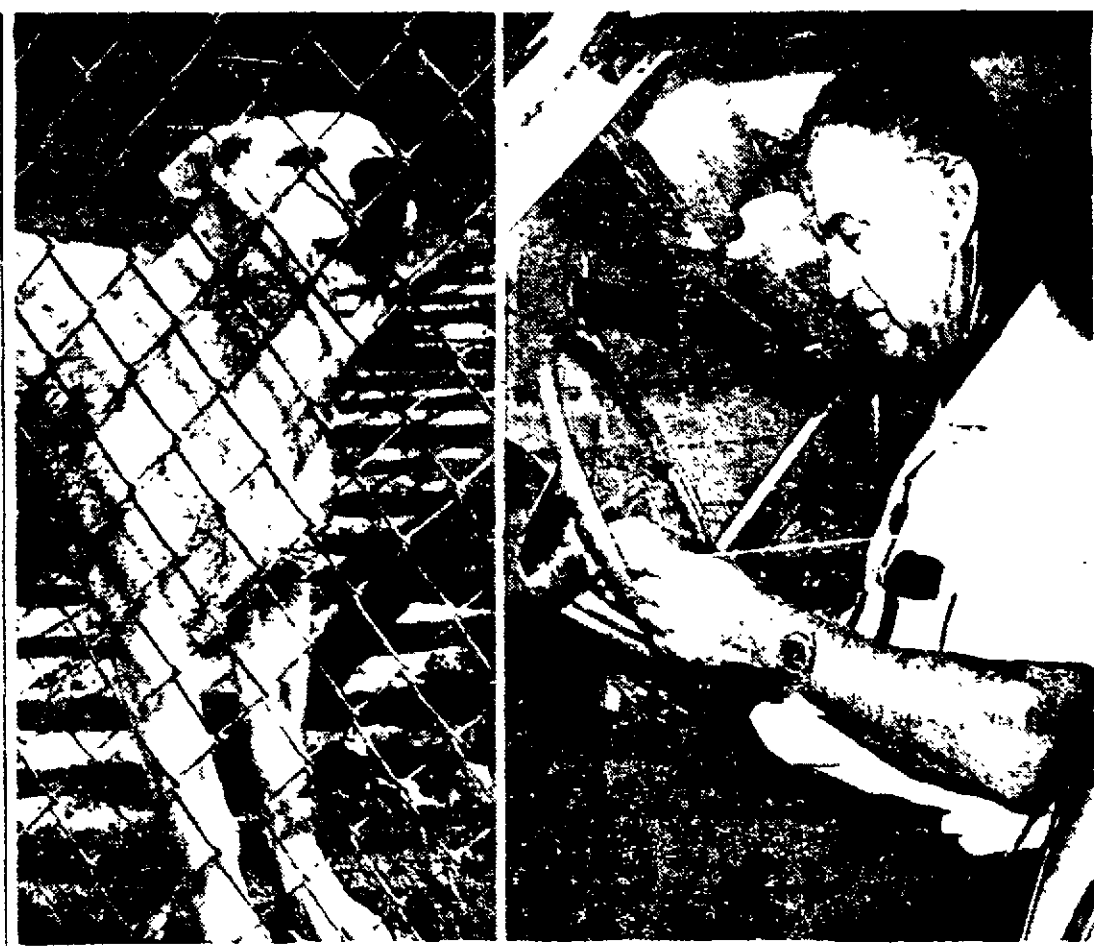

A member of the University of Nebraska's state 4-H staff will appear on a panel during the annual convention of the American Home Economics Association at Atlantic City, N.J., June 22-25.

Mrs. Dorothea Holstein will be "the voice of the Midwest" in discussing with panel members from other parts of the U.S. the convention theme, "Mobilizing Our Potential."

The panel will put particular emphasis on "the challenge of professional performance." The Nebraskan is state chairman of Home Economics in Homemaking, the professional organization for college-trained homemakers. She will participate in pre-convention discussions June 21, and will serve as a panel member the following day.

Omaha Businessmen Urge Defeat Of Income Tax Bill

State senators received a letter signed by nine prominent Omaha businessmen and civic leaders Friday urging defeat of the controversial income tax bill, LB797.

They asked in the letter that lawmakers appoint an interim study committee to join Nebraska business leaders to determine the state's revenue needs and the best way to raise that revenue.

Should the proposed committee determine that a broadened tax base is mandatory to meet the additional money requirements of the state, they said, a sales tax—not an income tax—should be adopted.

Sales Tax Favored
"As we read the sense of our business community," the letter said, "a sales tax would be highly favored over an income tax, and support for a sales tax might well replace the opposition there is to the income tax."

The letter, made public by Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter, was signed by John H. Becker, Leo A. Daly, John D. Diesing, Charles W. Durham, Morris E. Jacobs, Edward W. Lyman, Marvin G. Schmidt, Robert H. Storz and Gilbert Swanson.

The letter stated: "Most thoughtful citizens acknowledge the need of additional funds and are not opposed to expending more money in the public interest, provided such additional funds are prudently administered and public waste is avoided... and provided that the method of raising such additional revenue is fair to all persons, companies, and business operations, and will not hinder the state's industrial growth."

"It is our considered opinion that an income tax does not fit the above framework of fairness and equality, and our combined experience dictates that an income tax would deny to the state its greatest single factor in attracting new industry or in developing existing operations."

"Keep State Progressive"
The businessmen suggested the proposed interim study committee could "determine what increase in revenue is necessary to make and keep our state progressive, vibrant and competitive, and how best to raise this additional money."

Meanwhile, in other tax developments: —a move was underway in the Legislature to submit LB-797 to its fourth bill attempt next Monday, one day prior to its scheduled final reading. A motion was being drawn to return the bill to select file to strike its enacting clause.

—Sen. Hal Bauer of Lincoln, chief sponsor of the bill, began preparing administrative provisions which would provide for operation of the state property tax for half of the year in 1967, and operation of the state income tax for the other half.

Such a move would prevent Nebraskans from paying two state taxes in 1967, the year the income tax would take effect.

—Gov. Frank Morrison and his legal advisors continued to study possible legal or mechanical problems which might exist if LB797 receives legislative approval.

"I've got to be assured the bill is completely sound before I would sign it," Morrison said.

Egg Production Goes Down 2 Pct.
Nebraska's egg production totaled 126 million eggs during May, according to a State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics report released Friday.

This was about two percent less than the 129 million produced in May of last year. Total production for the first five months of 1965 was 608 million eggs, 6% below the same period last year.

Edgemont's Igloo, $36 Million Investment, Seeking Tenants

Edgemont, S.D. (AP)—Anybody want a town?

There's a dandy waiting for the right party near here. All that is needed is a legitimate way to use the $36 million investment.

By the end of June, 1967, the Black Hills Army Depot eight miles southwest of here will be vacant — unless new tenants are found.

Approximately 1,250 persons currently live in the depot's neat, polished 474-unit housing area, but they are moving elsewhere.

The facility was built 23 years ago as a reserve supply depot for ammunition, and 801 storage "igloos" are scattered across a sprawling 21,000 acres of rangeland.

The town, naturally named Igloo, covers 984 acres and is but a few miles from the Nebraska and Wyoming borders.

The depot has been ordered closed in a Department of Defense economy move, and it will undergo a gradual phase-out the next two years.

Left behind will be everything a modern town has to offer, including nearly $24 million in buildings, almost $7 million in land improvements, $4 million in utility distribution and sanitary systems, and land valued at $56,000.

There is excellent low-cost leasing opportunity for the right person, industry, agency — or combination of the three.

Here's what you might inherit: a restaurant, grocery, drug and department stores, dispensary, bowling alley, theater, barbershop, cleaning establishment, post office, chapel, service station, lounge and a school that can accommodate more than 600 students.

Igloo has a modern 60-bed hospital, fire department, airport, Veterans of Foreign Wars post and a Kiwanis Club.

Also available is a nine-hole golf course, swimming pool, baseball and football fields, fishing ponds, archery and rifle ranges, gymnasium and saddle club.

Igloo could offer the most for groups such as industry, or perhaps something like vocational education, or maybe

Eagles Select J. O'Donnel

Omaha (AP)—John O'Donnel of Plattsmouth was elected state president of the Eagles Friday succeeding Al Carlson of Superior.

Other new officers chosen Friday were: Earl Burson, Omaha, vice president; Ralph Brandt, North Platte, treasurer; L. R. Wanek, Beatrice, chaplain; Art Swanson, Holdrege, conductor; Charles Doyle, Hastings, inside guard; Bill Goodman, Hastings, outside guard; and Russ Clark, Omaha, Al Bendic, Fremont, and R. O. Swanson, Fullerton, trustees.

The Eagles also affirmed their pledge of a $75,000 dormitory for a planned boys ranch near Alliance.

The Eagles lodge in last year's convention pledged $50,000 for the ranch.

MOSQUITO CONTROL

Controlling mosquitoes is very difficult since mosquitoes will move in after an application of insecticide, but you can control mosquitoes on patios and in yards for a good period of time by using the following insecticides:

Ortho Sevin at the rate of 1 cup per gallon of water sprayed on patio, lawn and foliage of shrubs.

Sevin has a low toxicity for humans, pets and birds.

Small Pkg. $1.39
Large Pkg. $3.39

If a quicker kill is desirable add 1/2 tablespoon of Malathion per gallon to the Sevin mixture.

Cyprus Tucker of Newport Beach, Calif., shows how he ties a line from his car horn to his bedside — so he can retaliate when the neighbor's dogs bark at night. The 54-year-old merchant marine captain has been dubbed "Captain Hornblower" by neighbors who have complained to police that Tucker's horn-blowing is a disturbance.

Omaha Businessmen Urge Defeat Of Income Tax Bill

State senators received a letter signed by nine prominent Omaha businessmen and civic leaders Friday urging defeat of the controversial income tax bill, LB797.

They asked in the letter that lawmakers appoint an interim study committee to join Nebraska business leaders to determine the state's revenue needs and the best way to raise that revenue.

Should the proposed committee determine that a broadened tax base is mandatory to meet the additional money requirements of the state, they said, a sales tax—not an income tax—should be adopted.

"As we read the sense of our business community," the letter said, "a sales tax would be highly favored over an income tax, and support for a sales tax might well replace the opposition there is to the income tax."

The letter, made public by Scottbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter, was signed by John H. Becker, Leo A. Daly, John D. Diesing, Charles W. Durham, Morris E. Jacobs, Edward W. Lyman, Marvin G. Schmid, Robert H. Storz and Gilbert Swanson.

The letter stated: "Most thoughtful citizens acknowledge the need of additional funds and are not opposed to expanding more money in the public interest, provided such additional funds are prudently administered and public waste is avoided ... and provided that the method of raising such additional revenue is fair to all persons, companies, and business operations, and will not hinder the state's industrial growth."

"It is our considered opinion that an income tax does not fit the above framework of fairness and equality, and our combined experience dictates that an income tax would deny to the state its greatest single factor in attracting new industry or in developing existing operations."

"Keep State Progressive" The businessmen suggested the proposed interim study committee could "determine what increase in revenue is necessary to make and keep our state progressive, vibrant and competitive, and how best to raise this additional money."

Meanwhile, in other tax developments: —a move was underway in the Legislature to submit LB797 to its fourth bill attempt next Monday, one day prior to its scheduled final reading. A motion was being drawn to return the bill to select file to strike its enacting clause.

—Sen. Hal Bauer of Lincoln, chief sponsor of the bill, began preparing administrative provisions which would provide for operation of the state property tax for half of the year in 1967, and operation of the state income tax for the other half.

Such a move would prevent Nebraskans from paying two state taxes in 1967, the year the income tax would take effect.

—Gov. Frank Morrison and his legal advisors continued to study possible legal or mechanical problems which might exist if LB797 receives legislative approval.

"I've got to be assured the bill is completely sound before I would sign it," Morrison said.

Egg Production Goes Down 2 Pct. Nebraska's egg production totaled 126 million eggs during May, according to a State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics report released Friday.

This was about two per cent less than the 129 million produced in May of last year. Total production for the first five months of 1965 was 608 million eggs, 6% below the same period last year.

Edgemont's Igloo, $36 Million Investment, Seeking Tenants

Edgemont, S.D. (AP)—Anybody want a town?

There's a dandy waiting for the right party near here. All that is needed is a legitimate way to use the $36 million investment.

By the end of June, 1967, the Black Hills Army Depot eight miles southwest of here will be vacant ... unless new tenants are found.

Approximately 1,250 persons currently live in the depot's neat, polished 474-unit housing area, but they are moving elsewhere.

The facility was built 23 years ago as a reserve supply depot for ammunition, and 801 storage "igloos" are scattered across a sprawling 21,000 acres of rangeland.

The town, naturally named Igloo, covers 984 acres and is but a few miles from the Nebraska and Wyoming borders.

The depot has been ordered closed in a Department of Defense economy move, and it will undergo a gradual phase-out the next two years.

Left behind will be everything a modern town has to offer, including nearly $24 million in buildings, almost $7 million in land improvements, $4 million in utility distribution and sanitary systems, and land valued at $56,000.

There is excellent low-cost leasing opportunity for the right person, industry, agency—or combination of the three.

Here's what you might inherit: a restaurant, grocery, drug and department stores, dispensary, bowling alley, theater, barbershop, cleaning establishment, post office, chapel, service station, lounge and a school that can accommodate more than 600 students.

Igloo has a modern 60-bed hospital, fire department, airport, Veterans of Foreign Wars post and a Kiwanis Club.

Also available is a nine-hole golf course, swimming pool, baseball and football fields, fishing ponds, archery and rifle ranges, gymnasium and saddle club.

Igloo could offer the most for groups such as industry, or perhaps something like vocational education, or maybe

Eagles Select J. O'Donnel

Omaha (AP)—John O'Donnel of Plattsmouth was elected state president of the Eagles Friday succeeding Al Carlson of Superior.

Other new officers chosen Friday were: Earl Burson, Omaha, vice president; Ralph Brandt, North Platte, treasurer; L. R. Wanek, Beatrice, chaplain; Art Swanson, Holdrege, conductor; Charles Doyle, Hastings, inside guard; Bill Goodman, Hastings, outside guard; and Russ Clark, Omaha, Al Bendic, Fremont, and R. O. Swanson, Fullerton, trustees.

The Eagles also affirmed their pledge of a $75,000 dormitory for a planned boys ranch near Alliance.

The Eagles lodge in last year's convention pledged $50,000 for the ranch.

Going to move soon? Be sure to notify the Circulation Department, giving both your old and new address.

Liquor Bill Survives Gymnastics

... IN UNICAMERAL

Nebraska's Legislature spent nearly two hours Friday afternoon considering and re-considering a bill designed to force Omaha city fathers to give wider notice when a liquor license application or transfer hearing is scheduled.

The tortured measure was variously amended, killed and reconsidered before finally advancing from general file on a 22-6 vote.

In its latest form, LB540 requires that Omaha officials publish a legal notice in the newspaper of largest circulation in the county when a hearing is scheduled on a liquor license application or transfer request.

Incidents Prompt Bill

Sens. George Syas and Henry F. Pedersen Jr. introduced the bill as the result of incidents within their Omaha legislative districts in which residents were unaware of, or received last minute and accidental notice of, scheduled liquor hearings before the city council in which they were interested.

The bill motion was authored by Sen. William R. Skarda Jr., also of Omaha, who said the Nebraska Liquor Control Commission disliked the bill. He termed it a harassment measure, and some sharp exchanges between Skarda and Pedersen marked the discussion.

Pedersen amendments under which mailed notice would be sent at the applicant's expense to titled owners within 300 feet of the prospective liquor location were adopted before Skarda's kill motion carried 20-16. Syas promptly moved to reconsider, promising he would amend the bill simply to provide that legal notice be published in the newspaper of largest circulation in the city.

Adopt Amendment

Reconsideration was approved 26-3 and on a second test, Skarda's kill motion lost 15-16. The Syas amendment was adopted and the bill was advanced from general file 22-6.

Two other bills were advanced from general file at an afternoon meeting concluding the 75th session's 112th legislative day.

LB328 — setting out standards for signatures on initiative and referendum petitions.

LB893 — variously refining laws regulating barbers, including provision for registered assistant instructors at barber colleges.

LB328, sponsored by Sen. Syas, grew out of difficulties that attended an initiative petition effort last year for a constitutional amendment to make the Legislature a partisan body. The sufficiency of signatures was tested in court and the petitions were thrown out.

Syas said the court ruling upset long-standing Secretary of State interpretations of signature requirements, making the current legislation advisable.
